HITLER POSTPONES 'STATEMENT'

Vote to End 47-Day Shipyard Walkout

WORKERS TO RETURN TO JOBS NEXT MONDAY

AFL Approves Resumption of Work on Half Billion In Defense Contracts.

CIO TO MEET TONIGHT

Hillman Vows Protection To Machinists Under Major West Coast Accord.

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO — AFL machinists called an end to their 47-day strike against San Francisco shipyards today, voting to return to work Monday on a half billion dollars in defense contracts.

At Oakland, across the bay, CIO machinists who struck jointly with the AFL for wage increases called a special meeting for tonight to decide whether to end their walkout.

Some 1,200 AFL and 600 CIO machinists struck May 10 against 11 Bay area shipyards and repair plants working on 60 ships vitally needed for national defense.

The AFL machinists lodge 68 voted to return to work at the end of a meeting which began last night with E. C. Davison, their international secretary-treasurer, presenting a plea for the strike to end.

Resistance crumpled when he read a telegram from Sidney Hillman, associate director of the office of production management, promising that the machinists would be protected under the master contract negotiated with 39 major Pacific coast shipyards by the AFL metal trades department. Their grievances would be handled under its machinery despite their withdrawal from the department.

He referred to the acceptance by Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation of the master contract at the request of the national defense mediation board. Bethlehem signed yesterday in its first agreement with organized labor.

The lodge made it clear it would operate under the master contract only a short time, however. It struck jointly with CIO machinists when the master contract schedule of time and a half for overtime was enforced. The lodge demanded retention of double time and $1.15 an hour instead of the $1.12 an hour granted under the contract. The machinists previously received $1.00 and double time for overtime.

Expect Drive to End Gambling In Cuyahoga County

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A determined drive to end all gambling in Cuyahoga county was expected to get under way as Detective Inspector Joseph M Sweeney of the Cleveland police force today announced he would accept the offer of county commissioners to become sheriff, succeeding Martin L. O'Donnell who died Sunday.

Sweeney will take office next Tuesday and close associates predicted his first act would be to appoint Detective Sergeant James T. Hogan, head of the Cleveland police homicide squad and close friend, as county detective, replacing Harry S. Brown who was recently convicted of contempt of court for delaying a raid on a suburban gambling club.

Cleveland Safety Director Eliot Ness said he would be glad to release the 62-year-old police veteran.

NEW CENTER

Army Authorizes Construction of Reception Point At Camp Perry.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Authorization for a 1,000-man reception center costing $862,700 at Camp Perry, Ohio, was announced by the war department.

It will include 22 barracks, two mess halls, two officers quarters, two warehouses, a guard house, recreation building, and administration building.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

CLEVELAND—(AP)—George A. Kloos, jr., a former member of the 112th observation squadron, Ohio National Guard, who had applied for enlistment in the army air corps, was killed in an airplane crash at Olmstead Falls yesterday.

Mansfield's State Guard Mustered In

Impressive Ceremonies Held at Armory for Unit of 52 Men.

Fifty-two members of Mansfield's new Ohio State Guard unit were mustered into the service last night at impressive ceremonies at the state armory on Ashland road.

Lieut.-Commander Edward Carsey, representing the state adjutant general's office, administered the oath of allegiance to Capt. Glenn L. Bierly and Company F following a program staged by patriotic organizations.

"In such days," said Carsey, "it is hard to tell just what is ahead. The state has organized its home guard at the request of the war department. We don't know how much it will be needed or if it will be necessary to organize more."

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer told the new guard members that "they were helping to keep "the things which made America, America." Mayor William J. Locke, R. B. Gardner, former state commander of the American Legion, and Major C. E. Rowe of Fostoria also gave addresses.

The program followed a parade by members of the city's patriotic organizations and the American Legion bugle and drum corps. Colors of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled War Veterans, Marine Corps Veterans, Sons of Herman and the Sons of Union Veterans were massed in the armory.

Captain Bierly announced that drill and training would begin next Tuesday night at the armory.

Uniforms will not arrive for several weeks, but Bierly said that he expected them before the men went to Camp Perry in August for an eight-day training period.

Among those inducted into the state service last night besides Bierly, First Lieut. Hollis Moorhead and Second Lieut. Robert Schoenman were the following men:

15 HALT WORK

Truck Drivers Declare 'Work Holiday' at Bottling Plant.

Truck drivers and warehousemen, Truck Drivers' local No. 40, AFL, at the Mansfield Pepsi-Cola Bottling company, declared a "work holiday" today at 9 a. m. as they protested against what they declared were long hours and low wages.

Approximately 15 employes are affected by the "holiday" called this morning. The workers are asking an eight hour day, wage increases and union recognition.

M. J. Berer, president of the Pepsi-Cola company, would make no statement concerning the work stoppage.

Russell Kemp, secretary-treasurer of the Trades Council, AFL parent body, said that the stoppage would remain in effect until union requests were granted.

BUILD 10 MORE

Toledo Firm Set To Make Cutters At Cost of Million Apiece.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—The Toledo Shipbuilding company today prepared to build 10 more cutters for the coast guard at an average price of $1,325,000 per cutter. The company already has under construction an Arctic cutter at a cost of $1,700,000.

Victims of War—Cossacks Move Up to Front

This radiophoto from Berlin, taken somewhere in Russian territory, shows Russian civilians (note the girls) and soldiers with hands upraised after being captured by the Germans.

Pictured here is a detachment of Cossacks, typical of the hard-riding, hard-fighting giants from the land of the Don and Kuban, who, though exempt from military service, have, according to Moscow, voted to take up arms against the German invaders. It is estimated that some 5,000 Don and Kuban Cossacks have joined the fighting Soviet forces.

COMPANY LAGS ON 30-N JOBS

State Still In Dark as To Date For Beginning of Work on Crossing Projects.

State and city officials were in the dark today as to when the grade elimination project on U. S. Route 30-N, west of Mansfield, will be started. Work on the project is already 15 days behind schedule.

Vance Grimes, Ashland division engineer of the state highway department, said that although federal approval of the project had been received that the Lombardo Construction company of Cleveland had not started operations nor has the company informed him of any starting date.

Grimes announced that the Lombardo company was working on another contract in Lake county and had not moved enough machinery to Mansfield to begin work.

The company is paving a strip of road between Painesville and Euclid and must complete it by November, 1942. This is the same date set for completion of the overhead crossing at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on West Fourth street at the city limits and the underpass at the Erie tracks a mile and a half further west.

Grimes indicated that the Cleveland company may ask the state to allow him to sublet part of the contract so that it will be completed before the deadline.

POPE TO BROADCAST

VATICAN CITY — (INS) — The Vatican today announced plans of Pope Pius to broadcast a message to the entire world at 12:30 p. m. (5:30 a. m. EST) next Sunday, St. Peter's day. The broadcast, it was announced, will "consider the influence of divine providence on human events."

FORBIDS HOBOES TO RIDE RODS

Jeff Davis Says It's Defense Measure Against Disguise.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Jeff Davis, "king of the hoboes," today forbade the "more than 1,000,000" members of the International Migratory Workers union—better known as the Hoboes of America—to ride the rods on railroad trains.

Davis said his order was a defense measure, designed to prevent fifth columnists, disguised as hoboes, from sabotaging railroads.

ASKS FOR MORE

FDR Wants 300 Millions For Defense Housing.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt proposed today that congress authorize spending of an additional $300,000,000 on defense housing.

This would double the amount approved last October. In a special message to the legislators, Mr. Roosevelt suggested early consideration of his recommendation "in view of the urgency of this matter."

"Data have been presented to me," he said, "which indicate the possibility that the government should be prepared to undertake the construction of at least 125,000 additional defense homes between now and July 1, 1942. "It is thought best, however, to limit the additional program to $300,000,000 at this time, which will permit the construction of approximately 75,000 houses to fill the most urgent present needs."

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR CLUBHOUSE

Westbrook Members Seeking To Raise $120,000 To Re-Build Following Fire.

With preliminary plans for a new clubhouse at Westbrook Country club already drawn up, the club's finance committee had launched a campaign today for $120,000 for the construction of a clubhouse to replace the one destroyed by fire just a month ago.

C. Floyd Fighter, treasurer of the club, said members are being asked to purchase bonds to build and equip a new clubhouse. He said the finance committee, headed by Oliver C. Henkel, hoped to have a report on the campaign early next week. The club has 350 members.

"If there is assurance that the money will be available, work on the new building probably would be started before the end of the summer," Fighter said.

Tentative plans, submitted to the club's directors by Althouse and Jones, architects, call for a brick, semi-fireproof building of Colonial design which would be about the same size as the old clubhouse.

It would be erected on a site east and north of the old clubhouse to give a better view of the golf course from the porch. The clubhouse would adjoin the present locker house.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the 33-year-old clubhouse May 28. The loss was estimated at more than $75,000. The club had insurance on the building to cover about half the loss.

FDR SETS UP U. S. POLICY ON RUSS AID

Encounters Little Opposition In 3-Way Move To Assist Soviet In War.

TAFT HITS 'ALLIANCE'

Congress Passes Up Chance To Invoke Neutrality Act, Aids Shipments.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—With a minimum of opposition President Roosevelt today appears to have established firmly this country's foreign policy with respect to the aid-to-Russia principle.

In three quick moves, the administration announced its sympathy for the Red army's effort to stop Adolf Hitler, its intention to give such material aid as is possible, and its decision against invoking the neutrality act in the Russo-German conflict.

So far, there has been no more than scattered congressional opposition, although the neutrality act decision was an invitation to legislative opponents of Roosevelt foreign policies to make a voting issue of the whole question.

Several senators urged that this country should continue to concentrate on providing material aid to Britain.

The neutrality act provides that either congress or the president may invoke its provisions when either finds that a state of war exists between foreign states and such action is "necessary to promote the security and preserve the peace of the United States or to protect the lives of citizens of the United States."

Failure to invoke the act will facilitate deliveries of munitions, if any actually are sent. American ships could not carry munitions if the act became operative. So far, there has been no request for supplies. Deliveries will depend on the Soviet union's ability to withstand the initial shock of German invasion and also on the availability of supplies here as well as ships to transport the cargoes.

The general opinion here seems to be pessimistic regarding the outcome of the military engagement between the Nazi and Communist armies, but the Red army could fall back some thousands of miles and still have need for supplies shipped later by way of the Pacific.

PLANS ADDRESS

Roosevelt Expected To Call For Sacrifice July 4.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Roosevelt today prepared to lead "all Americans in unison—130,000,000 strong" in a national unity celebration of the Fourth of July, highlighting it with an address calling for more speed and sacrifices for the defense program.

Meanwhile, he will implement the forthcoming appeal for faster production of munitions by signing an executive order giving the OPM's priorities division legal power to back up its decisions.

The executive order will give Priorities Director Edward R. Stettinius, jr., full power to establish priorities for all defense needs. It also will delegate to Federal Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson the power to allocate the materials left over to the many industries producing civilian goods.

In a formal statement yesterday, the chief executive called on the nation to join under the direction of the office of civilian defense "in a grand rededication of liberty on the Fourth of July."

Fails to Make Promised Talk On 'Successes'

Berlin Remains Confident Despite Red Claims That Nazi Spearheads Are Surrounded; Moscow Says Drive Against Ukraine Halted.

BULLETIN

The Red army was reported in Russian military dispatches today to be enveloping the thrusts of Germany's mechanized armies and if ultimately successful the tactic will be the first checkmate ever found for the panzer infiltration. By the Russian account, masses of Red troops, thrown into the breach after passage of German tanks in their drive toward Vilna, Lithuania, re-formed the front, leaving the tanks to be disposed of in rearguard actions.

(By International News Service)

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler decided today to let German guns and planes tell in their own deafening way the story of what were termed continued "smashing victories" over the gigantic Russian army.

Unexpectedly, he postponed a promised statement describing in full detail where and how and to what extent the Soviet army and air force are crumbling beneath the hammer-blows of the German military pile-driver.

Military observers immediately speculated as to whether this postponement indicated that German spokesmen were over-optimistic in their original claims that Russia would prove a walk-over. The incident served to highlight the latest war communique issued in Moscow, which claimed that Nazi spearhead units had been pocketed in Lithuania and repulsed or destroyed in the south and central sectors.

In Berlin, however, there was no diminution of confidence. There was, on the other hand, a tendency to say that German victories were piling on one another in such rapid succession that it was difficult to keep track of them. Specifically, Wilhelmstrasse spokesmen told of a successful air attack on a Soviet staff headquarters, destruction of an armored column almost a mile long, and crippling blows to the Red air force.

FINLAND VOWS FULL DEFENSE

Claims 23 Soviet Raiders Shot Down In Stating Policy on Soviet.

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Finland — Finland answered a rain of Russian air bombs today by declaring she would defend herself with every means in her power, and followed this up by announcing that 23 Soviet raiders already had been shot down.

The declaration of Finnish policy was made by Premier Juhka Rangell at a secret night session of parliament, called after repeated Russian air assaults had killed scores of persons, wounded hundreds more and caused widespread property damage.

Rangell said the Soviet government had ignored requests for an explanation of these attacks, and that Finland thus had only one course to pursue. He obtained a unanimous vote of confidence.

The Russians did not confine their attacks to any particular area yesterday, ranging far and wide over the country on which they wrought havoc during the brief war of 1939-40.

This city had its sixth air raid alarm in a little more than 24 hours this morning. Other targets included Turka, Lappeenranta, Heinola, Joensu, a flying field at Group Meets But Fails to Open Probe of O-9 Disaster.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. —(INS)— A naval board of inquiry convened formally for organization at Portsmouth navy yard today but adjourned without opening its investigation of circumstances surrounding the sinking of the submarine 0-9 last Friday with the loss of 33 men off the Isles of Shoals.

The board, under chairmanship of Rear-Admiral William T. Tarrant, commandant of the First naval district, will re-convene at New London, Conn., home base of the ill-fated craft, probably tomorrow when evidence will be heard.

QUAKE RECORDED

Earth Tremor Reported Cause of Damage in Morocco.

LONDON—(AP)—A severe earthquake, which experts compared with some of the worst in recent years, was recorded here today and indirect reports said there had been considerable damage but few casualties in Morocco.

The quake began at 2 p. m. (7 A. M. EST) and still was registering 46 minutes later when the seismograph needle here swung two and a quarter inches.

The tremors appeared to be getting progressively more violent.

Exchange Telegraph, a British news agency, said it heard, through German reports, that the Rabat observatory in French Morrocco registered tremors in eastern Morocco in the vicinity of Talsint and Beni Cashid.

PREDICTS RISE

Director Says State Liquor Sales To Hit $70,000,000.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — State liquor control Director Jacob B. Taylor predicted today that state liquor sales may rise to $70,000,000 this year.

He said the estimate was based on a $3,470,000 increase in sales for the first five months of this year in comparison with the same period in 1940. Some of the biggest months for liquor sales come later in the year, he said.

Reveal Stalin Foresaw War With 'Fascist Germany' Six Weeks Ago

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The desperate efforts of Josef Stalin to avoid war with Germany and his realization six weeks ago that hostilities were inevitable are disclosed in the following dispatch from an International News Service correspondent who has just left Soviet Russia. His dispatch, written after departure to avoid Soviet censorship, has just reached Berne.)

(Copyright, 1941)

BERNE, Switzerland—(INS)—As long ago as May 6 Josef Stalin realized that war with Nazi Germany was inevitable despite his desperate efforts at "appeasement," International News Service is able to reveal today.

Information reaching Berne from an International News Service correspondent who left Soviet Russia just before the Russo-German war began discloses that Stalin officially warned that conflict was coming in an address to graduates of the Red army military academies on that date.

The formal graduation ceremonies in the Kremlin were followed by a state banquet, at which a member of his government proposed a toast to the "Stalinist peace policy." The bull-necked, 61-year-old bolshevik leader rose to his feet.

"No," he said, brushing aside the toast with a wave of his hand.

"Not to the Stalinist peace policy.

"To victory of the glorious Red army in the great battle against Fascist Germany."

The graduation ceremonies themselves were reported in the Russian press, but no details were published. But diplomatic circles received accurate information as to what occurred, and no one in official Moscow was unduly surprised when at dawn on Sunday, June 22, the Nazi legions launched their invasion.

To the graduates, Stalin talked forty minutes, emphasizing importance of the reorganization, re-equipment and modernization which during recent months brought the Red army up to modern standards. But these additional statements—not published at the time—were made:

"Our glorious Red army must be prepared

HITLER FAILS TO KEEP WORD ON STATEMENT

A total of 75 German planes was said to have been shot down yesterday, while only 17 Russian planes were reported missing after widespread aerial battles and bombing forays.

The communique said the main German drive against the Ukraine had been halted when Russian troops repulsed a three-fold attack on Cernauti, capital of Bukovina, with "severe losses" to the Nazis

It added that German naval units at the Rumanian port of Constanza were heavily bombed by Russian planes.

The high command charged that the Germans were being doped or intoxicated before being sent into battle.

In former Polish territory, the communique said, "We have recaptured Przemysl by swift counter-attacks."

To show that the Russian offensive is merely one chapter in an ever-expanding volume of war and destruction, the German admiralty made known that the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, sistership of the conquered and scuttled Graf Spee, has made a new name for herself as a raider in the North Atlantic. No less than 152,000 tons of enemy shipping sank beneath her guns on her latest raiding mission, it was announced, while other German ships and luftwaffe planes accounted for 97,300 tons.

Somewhat conflicting reports came from Africa and the Near East. Cairo said the British made new gains at Tobruk and were smashing away in Syria with big land and naval guns, but Vichy said the British offensive was slowing down.

Meanwhile, the Royal Air Force went ahead with its attempt to divert the Germans from Russia with a new series of raids on the Nazi-held French coast after nights attacks in which Bremen, Kiel and Boulogne were showered with bombs.

From dawn on through the day swarms of British fighters patrolled the English channel and French coast following the terrific hammering meted out to Kiel and Bremen last night.

Then, early this afternoon, power squadrons of bombers crossed the Kent coast and sped to France. A few minutes later the rumble of distant explosions across the mist-shrouded channel told the story of another devastating daylight raid.

Kiel and Bremen were subjected to blistering night raids.

The air ministry said large fires were started at both centers and that the docks of Boulogne also were bombed. One British plane was lost.

The newest British bombing raids represented the 15th successive night of heavy British raids on Germany and Nazi-occupied territory.

The British air ministry announced that enemy activity during the night was on a small scale. A few Nazi bombs were dropped on the southeast English coast and the northeast coast of Scotland. One German raider was shot down

Meanwhile, the RAF was credited with shooting down 110 German warplanes since the Russo-German war began.

These victories coincided with the vast new British air offensive against Germany, designed as a flanking movement to aid Russia and now developing, according to London officials, into the "most gigantic air offensive in the world's history."

Since Saturday, official figures said, 100 German planes have been destroyed by day and 10 by night. During the past 10 days, these figures claimed, 134 Nazi planes have been knocked from the skies at the cost of only 33 British fighter planes.

to fight Fascist Germany at any moment, and to fight on enemy territory. As long as Hitler occupied himself with rectification of the injustices of Versailles we could, and did, support Germany.

"Now Hitler is striving for world domination. This we cannot tolerate. We will fight Germany to the death."

Not only the several thousand Red army graduates but the entire Soviet government and ranking officers of the army, navy and air force were present while the "boss" told them which way the wind was blowing.

Prior to that time, it was understood that the Kremlin was determined to avoid war with Germany at any price Stalin was pictured as prepared to do anything, except perhaps demobilize the Red army or allow occupation of any part of Soviet territory by German troops.

Stalin had forty years of experience fighting against Czarist cossacks, oppositionists and heretics in his own party and many others. He defeated many an internal enemy better equipped and stronger than he He did it by cool calculation, clever maneuvering and hard work. He let his enemies destroy one another. He had planned to do the same with Germany

A certain ambassador who recently returned to Moscow from Berlin said he knew for a fact that the German general staff was confident in its ability to beat the Red army and occupy the Ukraine and the Caucasus in from three to six weeks. In view of the expense and disorganization, however, the German staff would have preferred to see a peaceful solution, the envoy said, and approaches were made to Stalin.

Diplomatic and military observers in Moscow felt that Stalin would negotiate and he did. His "appeasement" took the form of various diplomatic gestures such as dismissal of the Yugoslavian minister from Moscow and taking other steps pleasing to Berlin

Shipments of wheat and raw materials to Germany were increased, and a boost in Soviet oil shipments to the Reich to two or three million tons a year was anticipated.

But, according to reports, Hitler wanted to send a host of German agricultural and industrial specialists into Soviet Russia—a doubtful point with Stalin—and was bringing pressure to bear for demobilization of the Red army. The latter was out of the question. It is not known whether Germany requested any territorial concessions, but these would have been automatically rejected.

While Stalin was trying to "buy peace," intensive miliary preparations were pushed harder and harder For many days and weeks prior to outbreak of hostilities, troops poured westward out of Moscow, bound for Bessarabia, Soviet Poland and the Baltic countries. Thousands of well-organized home guards rehearsed daily. Uncannily realistic air raid alarms became commonplace throughout the U. S. S. R.

Then the blow came, and with it war.

Malmi, Porvoo, Loviisa, Forsby and Pyterlanti.

The naval guns of Hango peninsula, which the Russians obtained from Finland in their peace settlement little more than a year ago, also went into action, bombarding adjacent Finnish territory at intervals for hours.

The communique made no mention of any contact between Finnish and Russian troops along the border, and it was presumed that hostilities thus far were confined to the air.

Germans Admit Loss Of Sea Raider

BERLIN —(AP)— The German high command acknowledged today the loss of one of its surface raiders in an Indian ocean battle with a British cruiser, but announced the return of the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer from a raiding cruise in the Atlantic which netted 152,000 tons of shipping.

The daily communique said that the auxiliary cruiser Pinguin, "which had been active in foreign waters against enemy merchant shipping, was lost in the Indian ocean in a fight against the much superior heavy British cruiser Cornwall."

"The commander and the majority of the crew were killed after a heroic fight," the communique continued. "Some of the crew were captured by the enemy."

(Lloyd's register lists a German steamer Pinguin of 983 tons, built in 1907, home port Bremen. The Cornwell is a 10,000-ton cruiser carrying eight 8-inch guns)

The communique said the 10,000-ton Admiral Scheer commanded by Captain Krancke, "arrived at a German base after a long successful cruise in the North and South Atlantic." It credited her with the sinking of 86,000 of her total of 152,00 tons in the destruction of a single convoy

(The Admiral Scheer is a sister of the Admiral Graf Spee, which was beaten by three British cruisers off the coast of Uruguay in December 1939, and later was scuttled off Montevideo.

Encounters Little Opposition In 3-Way Move To Assist Soviet In War.

Those supplies would have to be delivered, however, under the watchful eye of Japan, and there is belief here that Japan will move on Siberia if the Red army falters.

There was a disposition among some senators to concentrate on full aid to Britain and not to be too concerned now with helping Russia. This sentiment was expressed by Sens. James M. Mead, D., N. Y; Harold H. Burton, R., O; George D. Aiken, R., Vt.; and Hugh A. Butler, R., Neb. Of this group, Mead is the only consistent proponent of the administration's foreign policy.

Meanwhile, Sens. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont.; Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D.;: and Robert A. Taft, R., O., leaders of the senate isolationist bloc, attacked the policy of United States collaboration with Russia.

Nye told questioners that Germany's break with its erstwhile economic ally proves that the United States should 'stay home and mind its own business."

Wheeler, speaking in Hartford, Conn, said that "the world has never known a more completely ruthless dictatorship than the Stalin regime of Russia."

Taft said in a radio address that the United States "in the name of democracy" has been asked "to made a Communist alliance with the most ruthless dictator in the world."

One Gets Term In O. S. R.; 3 Others Put on Probation

A 29-year-old colored man who admitted he "bit the hand that fed him" was sentenced to one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston on a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

The defendant, Roy Hill, Cleveland, confessed stealing an automobile at the farm home of F. O Fisher near Shelby on April 30 while Mrs. Fisher was in the house getting Hill a lunch. He had hitch-hiked to the home and asked for food.

Hill jumped in the car which was standing near the house and drove down the road. Mrs. Fisher telephoned neighbors who blocked the road and caught him. He was indicted two weeks ago by the grand jury.

Three other persons under indictment were placed on probation today by Judge Huston after they pleaded guilty. They were Fred Minnie, 44, Bellville, indicted for issuing an $80 check without funds, Ralph Cline, 18, Mansfield, charged with operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, and Russell Stier, 30, Mansfield, indicted for carrying concealed weapons

Cline and Stier received three years' probation, while Minnie was put on probation for four years and ordered to make the check good at the rate of $5 a week.

Judge Huston continued the case of Francis Head, Coshocton, who is under indictment for grand larceny, to give the court more time to investigate Head's record The case will be heard next Wednesday.

Army Half-Trac Independent of Roads

Here is one of the nearly 10,000 half-tracs ordered by the United States army. The half-trac resembles the conventional scout car save that, in place of regular rear wheels, the car is supported by an endless belt track—which gives it great mobility over soft or rough terrain. The half-trac, which has eight speeds, can attain a speed of 50 miles an hour on smooth ground or highway. Half-tracs will ford streams of a depth up to two-and-one-half feet.

PAYS YOUR GAS TAX FOR YOU
At present Federal tax rates, the savings on gasoline effected by Compound Carburetion are usually more than enough to pay Federal taxes on the gas you buy.

Recipe for getting Extra Action out of thin air

IT'S a cinch to build an automobile engine that's either one thing or another.

You can go in for power – if you don't mind the gas consumption – or you can shoot for economy if stirring action doesn't matter.

What's tough is building a car with two good ideas under its bonnet – like this Buick FIREBALL straight-eight with Compound Carburetion.†

One idea is that it doesn't make sense to use a big, gas-gulping carburetor for your easy-going travel when you need only a little one.

The other is that you might as well have plenty-power on call when you can get it practically out of thin air!

So this Buick has two smaller carburetors instead of a single middling-size to big one.

One of them frugally handles all your low-power, round-the-town travel.

The other swings in any time you press down the gas treadle – and gives more lift and wallop – by increasing the supply of air!

Results include: More horsepower – and gas economy running as high as 10% to 15% above previous Buicks, according to owners.

Interesting? Then better get prices and see how little it costs to get this extra action – plus extra room, extra size, extra comfort and extra style.

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.

$930 for the Business Coupe illustrated above including Compound Carburetion, delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices and specifications subject to change without notice.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1941

News vs. Propaganda

AMONG the German agencies in this country closed by recent order of the government was the Transocean News Service.

Copies of a letter of Dr. Manfred Zapp, director of the agency, have come to light, describing his efforts to induce the American press to accept reports of the German news agency.

The letter, purportedly written to Guenther Altenburg of the foreign office in Berlin, is among documents held by the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

The contents of that letter should be of interest to every American newspaper reader.

"I offered this Transocean news to the American press, only to meet with the stiffest resistance everywhere," the letter said. "Better than any other press in the world, the American press is informed of foreign political affairs in Europe through its own regular correspondents as well as through the well-known large news agencies. . . .

"Americans hold the peculiar subjective notion that only they are objective and consequently they will not read news that does not sail under their own flag. They are avid for 'news' but it must come from American sources."

Probably Dr. Zapp didn't intend it as such. But he paid a great tribute to the American press.

Not a day passes that doesn't see the editorial offices of The News-Journal and other daily newspapers flooded with enough propaganda, publicity, hand-outs and so-called free news releases to fill the columns of the paper.

But as Dr. Zapp discovered, editors rightfully distrust "news" sailing under false colors. Publishers prefer to support recognized news services and pay their own reporters and correspondents. The News-Journal, for instance, contracts for the news reports of all three of the great wire services—Associated Press, United Press and International News Service—to be certain that it can give its readers a complete and factual report.

J. A. Rigby, a Friendly Man

TO MANY of the older residents of Mansfield the death of J. A. Rigby marks the passing of an esteemed personal friend. To younger citizens, a reviewing of his life provides the recollection of an era in Mansfield—an era of civic growth and friendliness.

For Mr. Rigby's career, beginning with his entry into the cigar business with his father and expanding through the years to a broadening of his business interests and a growth of activity in financial, fraternal, and religious circles, accurately symbolizes the transformation of the town from a quiet county seat into a busy industrial center.

But marking Mr. Rigby's life among his fellow townsmen was another factor, a note characteristic of any valued man or epoch. That factor was his unfailing friendliness.

In the words of his friend of many years, R. A. Kern, "He always spoke to everyone on the street."

As a banker and citizen he demonstrated that the best asset of any institution and any city is an appreciation of the other fellow and a forthright friendliness that wins his confidence.

This attribute of Mr. Rigby's was marked particularly by a keen sense of humor and a dry wit. He liked nothing better than to tell a sly joke and wait for his listener to catch up with it.

It is perhaps this combination of understanding and good humor which makes his friends pause a bit before they eulogize him now that he is gone. He was not a man whose life could be disposed of in a single sentence.

Army Promotions

IT IS reassuring to learn that favoritism and red tape are being ignored in building our new army. It develops in Washington that in the job of selecting general officers, particularly colonels, the board has departed cleanly from precedent and chosen the ablest men, no matter how far they may have been from the top of the list.

This is the way to build a strong army, if the selections are made honestly by competent judges as they are said to have been in this case. There will be sympathy, of course, for the disappointed lieutenant colonels, but this is no place for hurt feelings or ambition to interfere with efficiency. And it may be that many of those now passed by can qualify later on for higher rank.

Will U. S. Defend Siberia?

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Will the U. S. defend Siberia as it has defended the Dutch East Indies against Japan?

That is one of the outstanding questions in Washington today and the answer will probably not come until Japan shows its hand. Japan was all set to take the Dutch East Indies, and perhaps French Indo-China after the fall of the Low Countries. But Uncle Sam, speaking through Cordell Hull, U. S. Secretary of State, surprised the world by what seemed to be an ultimatum. The words of Mr. Hull did not state definitely that the U. S. would declare war on Japan if Japan attacked the Dutch East Indies, but they SEEMED to say just that. Beyond doubt they were so interpreted in Japan.

Incidentally the best military opinion is that Japan "missed the boat." If she had moved swiftly, ignoring the words of Cordell Hull, it is entirely possible that she could have gobbled up those priceless islands which belonged to Holland, and that the United States would have done nothing more than we did when Mussolini was conquering the Lion of Judah. There was not the slightest indication that American public opinion would have supported the Administration in a war against Japan, and there is very grave doubt whether—at that time—President Roosevelt would have unleashed the navy to attack Nippon.

Moreover, except for the navy, nothing was ready. That was before this government rushed a lot of long range bombers to Manila. It was before another lot of long range bombers made in the U. S. was rushed to Singapore, threatening by their mere presence the bombing of Japan's oil reserves—which are extremely vunerable—if war should break out.

Japan knew how vulnerable her oil reserves were. Despite the lack of bombers at the time in Singapore and Manila she decided to wait a more favorable moment. An important element in her calculations was conviction that Germany could not be stopped, and that Britain would be weaker before she was stronger.

Moreover that was before Japan and Russia had concluded their non-aggression pact.

Not that this pact means anything—from the coldblooded viewpoint of the military experts. Treaties and solemn promises are at an even lower ebb than in the famous "scraps of paper" era of the first war. Japan will do, the experts believe, what ever is in her own interest at the moment.

Which means of course that she might now attack Siberia, while the Soviet is in a death grip with the Nazis. This brings us back to the point of whether we would take the same strong stand against such aggression in the Far East with respect to Siberia which we took in respect to the Dutch East Indies.

There is not the same degree of feeling. This country has always been very friendly with Holland, and our navy in particular has been certain ever since World War No. 1 that we would eventually have to fight Japan. In the case of Russia versus Japan this country was sympathetic with Japan, but that picture has long since gone out of focus. The country has turned anti-Japanese to an amazing extent since Japan's unprovoked war of aggression against China.

There is little disposition, on the other hand, to be friendly with the Soviet EXCEPT that the Russians are fighting Hitler. While they are doing a job at that it is entirely possible, in fact probable, that our navy and bombers will protect their back door.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"All For a Song!"

Explaining one metaphor with another, "All for a song!" has come to signify paying too much for one's whistle.

Meaning, that is to say, the expenditure of strength or assets for something worthless or superficial, the words have come down to us from the day when their first usage was literal.

The allusion is to the incident in which Queen Elizabeth ordered Lord Burleigh to present the poet Edmund Spencer with one hundred pounds, as a token of her appreciation of the poet.

Lord Burleigh's classic comment is reported to have been:

"All this for a song!"

This Is Ohio

ONE HUNDRED years ago the great iron emporium of the state was at Hanging Rock, on the Ohio river in Lawrence county.

In 1826 John Means of Spartansburg, S. C., built a charcoal furnace near his home at Hanging Rock and began the manufacture of pig iron. The union, as he named it, was the first iron furnace north of the Ohio in this district. The Hanging Rock ores were peculiarly adapted to the production of an iron of great strength and durability.

Charcoal iron before the Civil war was worth from $10 to $14 a ton. The union furnace was kept going but sold very little iron, the owners accumulating a stock of 16,000 tons. By 1863 the price was $40 a ton.

Needing the iron as the Civil war progressed, the government purchased the accumulated stock and the entire furnace output.

Let's Look Around

Where Fact and Fiction Meet

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

DEADWOOD, South Dakota—Coming into Deadwood by motor car, over a modern highway, appears entirely out of keeping with the traditions of this famous—or notorious—"gulch" town, which was once among the wildest in the "wild west."

It doesn't seem right to find the surroundings similar to those of other cities and towns along the way.

Here we should find our old friends of dime novel days—"Deadwood Dick," "Calamity Jane," "Wild Bill Hickok," and others of that lusty tribe which marched so valiantly through the pages of history and fiction during those stirring days when the lure of newly-found gold brought thousands to this "last frontier," where "the coward never started and the weak died on the way."

But, long before now, Deadwood has settled down to the commonly accepted rules of good behavior. No shots ring out as you walk along the streets—and the only guns in sight are those racked in long rows in the museum of Adams Memorial hall, where "shooting irons," and other relics of the old west, make what one interested tourist enthusiastically termed "the best museum I have ever seen"—and you see many good ones during the course of a cross-country trip.

HISTORY and fiction are so closely interwoven with the principal characters in the real-life drama that was enacted here in the several decades that started around 1875, that it is hard to sift out facts, even when you are right here on the ground.

It is a matter of record, however, that there were 36 notches on "Wild Bill' Hickok's gun (each indicating a killing), before he was treacherously shot by Jack McCall during a card game in a smoke-filled saloon here in Deadwood back in 1876, as you probably recall having seen in a motion picture several years ago.

Early day Deadwood is revived each year, for the benefit of tourists, through re-enactment of "The Trial of Jack McCall," conducted by the local "Whisker club" several nights a week during the summer season.

ENTERING Deadwood from Spearfish, the first point of interest to which attention is directed is Deadwood Dick's old cabin, near which is his burial place—and also, not far away, the Theodore Roosevelt monument.

It was rather surprising to learn that the real "Deadwood Dick," whose family name was Clark, died only about ten years ago, and that in addition to being an Indian scout and gold prospector, he followed the less picturesque career of rancher.

UP A STEEP INCLINE to Mt. Moriah cemetery, at the edge of Deadwood, you come upon the conspicuously marked grave of "Wild Bill" (James Butler) Hickok, with a weather-worn statue in red marble, and a notation of his death "Aug. 2, 1876."

And alongside of "Wild Bill's" grave is buried "Calamity Jane," in accordance with her request, although she lived 27 years after his death, and rumors of a love affair between them were never confirmed.

It was intresting to learn that the name "Calamity" was conferred on Jane (Canary), not because of her calamitous career, but because of her willingness to help everybody in time of calamity, or misfortune. Her funeral, in 1903, was the largest in Deadwood history.

THE TOWN of Deadwood gained its name from the vast amount of dead wood accumulated in the gulch, that had to be cleared out before the pioneering gold hunters could start a town.

AT LEAD, four miles south of her, is the Homestake mine, which has been in constant operation more than fifty years and is the largest gold-producing mine in the United States. It employs more than 2,000 men and annual production of gold runs around seven million dollars. The mine is now being worked at a depth of almost 4,500 feet.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Red, Nazi Envoys Here Close Friends of Dictator Bosses

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The Russo-German war has brought more than ever to the forefront two young diplomats who represent the two belligerents, Ambassador Constantin Oumansky of Russia and Charge d'Affaires Hans Thomsen of Germany.

Both are about the same age, in their early forties, both are extremely able, both play an extremely different role, and neither circulates very much in Washington society.

Thomsen, born of a Norwegian mother and married to a Hungarian wife, sometimes is suspected of anti-Hitler leanings. This suspicion has been increased by his wife's unconcealed dislike for Hitler. Frau Thomsen has declared that she would not go back to Germany if her husband were recalled, as long as Hitler is in power.

Actually, however, Thomsen is a loyal Nazi and a close friend of Hitler's. He happened to be in the foreign office when Hitler first came into power, and served for some time as liaison officer between the new chancellor and the foreign office. Quite a bond of friendship grew up between them.

Likewise, Ambassador Oumansky is close personally to the dictator of his country, Josef Stalin. Oumansky once was chief of the press bureau in Moscow, in other words, chief censor, and came into close contact with Stalin.

Oumansky and his wife are great students of American life and politics, and know this country as well or better than most diplomats. They have not circulated socially since Russia made her ill-fated alliance with Hitler in 1939, but the Soviet receptions once were famous for caviar, vodka and rich viands rivaling anything during the ornate days of the Czar.

Oumansky and Hull.

Oumansky has had frequent contact with the state department, especially last summer and fall, when Sumner Welles was trying to work out an agreement by which Russia might be weaned away from the Axis and aid the United States in case of trouble with Japan. It was tough diplomatic negotiating, first because Oumansky was having trouble with pro-Axis Stalin; second because Welles was having trouble with his anti-Soviet chief, Secretary Hull.

Despite his knowledge of American politics, Ambassador Oumansky made one of the prize remarks of recent diplomatic history one day when he complained:

"The only person I see when I go to the state department is Sumner Welles. I think a nation of the importance of Russia should have its ambassador received by the secretary of state himself."

Ambassador Oumansky did not know it, but the chief reason Hull did not see him (though he did later on on one or two occasions) was because the secretary of state was using his most pungent Tennessee phraseology on all things Russian.

And he had very definite ideas about Mr. Welles' hope that Russia might be brought into the same corner as the U. S. A. But it took a long time for charming Comrade Oumansky to tumble.

War Notes.

Underground reports from the Ukraine indicate that several Russian military commanders there are none too sympathetic with Stalin . . . There has been a small German population in the Ukraine ever since the days of Catherine the Great, when she imported 60,000 Germans to increase farm production. The Russians at that time were serfs. Catherine gave the Germans their freedom and they have been landlords ever since, though suppressed by Moscow in recent years . . . Apparently even some parts of the Russian government did not believe there was going to be war. Nazi fliers found some south Russian cities brilliantly lighted, easy bomb targets . . . When the Rumanians folded up last year, the Russians took not only Bessarabia but Bukovina, which went further than specified in their deal with Hitler. Within twenty-four hours after the war broke, a German column was reported as having taken back Bukovina.

Roosevelt's Cousins.

The heat has gone out of the hatred Roosevelt used to suffer from his political foes. But not from his foes within the far-flung Roosevelt family.

Not long ago, George Emlen Roosevelt, Wall Street banker and cousin of the president, had occasion to come to Washington, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt sent him a friendly invitation to lunch at the White House. But the banker declined.

Back in New York, a friend asked him why he had not accepted. "Because," he said, "the last time I was with Franklin, he had us pose for a picture together. It was a frame-up! He must have known I didn't want to be seen in company with him!"

Note—George E. Roosevelt is five years younger than the president, a Harvard graduate, and a member of the investment banking form of Roosevelt & Son.

Axis Steel Profits.

The crackdown on Axis assets, which state department appeasers blocked for months, has revealed to officials many hidden loopholes through which Germany and Italy siphoned millions of dollars to finance subversive operations in this country and Latin America.

Freezing the funds also disclosed that while the loopholes were plugged, Axis agents are still defiantly active.

One case of this kind was a group of Italians who, shortly after the outbreak of war, organized a U. S. company to export high-grade steel, used in making machine tools and instruments. When Mussolini leaped into the fray as France was collapsing, shipments to Italy ceased.

But the company continued to buy large quantities of the steel, which it sold to U. S. users at fancy profits, as ever-mounting defense needs boosted prices. This money the company turned over to Italy.

When the freezing order came, blocking further transmission of funds, the company had on hand a large stock of steel. It immediately notified its U. S. customers that no more orders would be filled. Inquiries brought the cocky reply that the company didn't care to sell if it couldn't get its hands on the money—to send to Italy.

On this, however, the Italians have another think coming. They will sell the steel they hold and the money will not go to Il Duce. Also they will get no more steel. Uncle Sam has taken steps to these ends.

Note—In another case involving a $160,000 check cashed by the Nazis just before the freezing order, treasury agents discovered that this was done by shunting it through four different persons to a secretly Nazi-controlled Swiss concern.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Moe Gale, the "Great White Father" of Harlem, owes much of his current affluence to a talent for looking at raw, untried Negro musicians and detecting whatever greatness may be lurking beneath the surface.

Once he looked at an obscure drummer in a small-time band, a band that was going nowhere, and found Chick Webb. Again he looked at a black chorus boy in an all-Negro revue, and found Cab Calloway. He found Erskine Hawkins in an Alabama college. Ella Fitzgerald he plucked from the dreary confines of the old Harlem opera house. It was Gale who took the Four Ink Spots from nowhere to greatness. It isn't an art; it's a gift, like falling in the mud and coming up with diamonds, or building a better mousetrap.

To be sure, you have to have savvy, too, and a good business head. Gale, in his working moments, is a music publisher, and a manager of talent. His stables include such talent as Sister Rosetta Tharpe, the famous colored "Holy Rollersinger." He has Tiny Bradshaw; he has the Savoy Sultans; he has Maxine Sullivan, who rose to fame on the swing arrangements of "Loch Lomand."

Gale, who is white, for a decade or more has operated the Savoy ballroom in Harlem, a celebrated tourists' point and a hub of Harlem swing-life that has been mentioned by poets and composers. A famous dance was named after it, "The Savoy Stomp," and from this dance came the song "Stomping at the Savoy." Not only is Moe justly known as Harlem's Great White Father, he is also known as "The William Morris" of the Negro band industry. Morris is one of the largest and most successful bookers and agents in the U. S. A.

SPEAKING of musicians, a man who knows them well is Ray H. Potter, manager of the Forrest hotel. Perhaps we should say he knows their appetites, for recently he analyzed the menus of five thousand meals served musicians over a period of five years, and he came up with this chart of the average tooter:

He is aged 23 . . . He dines four times a day—at noon, at 6 p. m., midnight, and 4 a. m. . . . For breakfast he has orange juice, bacon and eggs and coffee. . . . At 6 p. m. he orders chicken liver, onion soup, roast beef, peas and potatoes, coffee and strawberry shortcake. . . . Usually at midnight comes a steak sandwich and coffee. . . . At 4 a. m. it's a hamburger and coffee. His favorite beverage is scotch and soda.

TWO hundred and thirteen lives were lost in 6th avenue the other day when a friend of mine accidentally dropped a chemical in a goldfish aquarium. . . . They were goldfish lives, of course, but several of the fish were what the proprietor called imported specimens. . . . He figured the accident set him back about $60.

New York wasn't always a teeming metropolis . . . For instance Alexander Hamilton's "country" home—The Grange—is still standing at 14th street and Convent avenue. . . . This neighborhood hasn't been considered "uptown" in more than 75 years.

A Farmer's Diary

A Water Frolic

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A STOCKY bull with a ring in his nose and a dragging chain escorts the procession of Guernsey cows that every morning winds its way into our neighbor's pasture along Honey Creek. Our children are afraid of him—and a good thing, too. But every afternoon they watch until they see the herd going back toward the barn again, then comes a shout—"The cattle are out of the pasture now—let's all go swimming!"

The pasture is a pretty place and the pool beneath the over-towering elms is deep enough for adults. The spring-fed stream lops, clear and clean, between high grassy banks. Late the other afternoon—it was our 15th wedding anniversary—we all went for a frolic in the water.

The children got into bathing suits. The three littlest boys had been digging in the dirt. Their mother tok one look at them and went back into the house to bring a washcloth and a big cake of soap.

We followed along the edge of the wheat on the trail the tractor made when the lower field was planted. The grain was more than waist high. Waves of heat came over it that brought the smell of harvest. The newly planted proso field was loose and soft. Occasionally a few scattered grains of seed could be seen that had not been entirely covered.

We climbed the rail fence into the creek side pasture and followed the stream to the pool beneath the elms. The two oldest children were in — swimming, splashing and shouting. The middle boy had toted an innertube along. Both smaller boys rode on this, bent double to make a 'duck' or improvised a motor boat from it with the taller brother's flailing legs for motor. Their slender tanned bodies gleamed and their hair clung sleekly. The soap had done its work and floated off to be seized by the swimmer and made the occasion of a water fight

The baby, holding tight to his mother's hand, waded delightedly, in the shallows. Even I, finding they had brought along a suit for me, went among the hawthorns and got into it. A neighbor was mowing clover in his meadow, over the fence. The odor of new-cut hay came to us, sweet and pungent. The water was warm, the bottom sandy. I stretched full length and floated down to where the others waited.

The sky above the elms was blue, reflected in the water. The world seemed very far away—the earth very near and dear.

Looking at my children and their mother there, I mused on the changes that even a few years brings—always. But memories are precious and to all of us that anniversary celebration along Honey Creek will be a treasured recollection.

'ERSATZ' ERA FORECAST FOR UNITED STATES

Shortages In Vital Defense Materials May Force Use of Substitutes.

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of four articles on the effect of the national defense program on the man in the street.)

By JACK VINCENT
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Shortages in the ten vital national defense materials may force Americans to accept an "ersatz" era.

The greatest shortages are in aluminum, magnesium, steel plates, nickel, cork, zinc, brass and tin. Later it is expected that imported foodstuffs, wool and chemicals may become scarce.

This means that articles made from the materials, which American shoppers are accustomed to see on store counters, will become more and more scarce, and perhaps impossible to obtain in the next 12 months.

OPM Director John D. Biggers says "the idea that we can have all the guns we want and all the butter too" has been abandoned.

"The kind and degree of sacrifice necessary for defense has not yet been fully realized by the people of America," says Wayne Coy, liaison officer between the OPM and the White House. "The population has been slow to appreciate the meaning of defense."

Right now, according to defense officials, any one who could invent a substitute for cork could make a tidy fortune. Cork, normally imported from Spain, Portugal and North Africa, is becoming so scarce that defense officials may bar its use in non-defense articles such as insulation board and floor coverings. Most homes in the U. S. have some form of cork composition covering the kitchen floor. The shortage is so acute that the use of it for bottle caps may be banned.

In other materials, such as tin and rubber, defense officials say that there are no shortages but that it is vitally necessary to cut their use in civilian goods in order to build up stockpiles. Tin is used for coating the inside of cans and food containers. Ultimately, paper or glass containers may be substituted for the tin can. However, government scientists have developed a process where tin cans can be coated with silver instead of tin—and just as cheaply.

The situation in aluminum, nickel, cork, zinc and brass is described as "very serious." ultimately, chemicals will become scarce. This may cut production of patent medicines, make the housewife do without some cleaning fluids and soaps, and event affect the output of certain types of medicated cigarets.

Defense officials had hoped that plastics would replace many metal products. The automobile industry is probably the greatest developer of plastics but it now appears as if shortages also will develop in that line.

Steel for building of new office buildings and apartments also may be difficult to buy. The construction industry also will be hit by shortages of copper roof gutters, wiring, insulation, copper screens and plumbing; zinc weather-stripping and galvanized roofing.

Just what the final effects of the shortage of metals will be on automobiles, radios and refrigerators cannot be forecast. However, it appears that the numbers of the models of radios and refrigerators will be reduced and automobile lines may have to be simplified.

California Youth Puts Away Ice Cream Sodas in 7 Minutes.

COVINA, Calif.—(AP)—Darrell Emmert, 17, bragged about his capacity for ice cream sodas to Jimie Reher, soda fountain owner.

After having Darell sign a paper releasing the place from damages for "after effects," Reher started to set them up. In seven minutes and a half the boy made away with ten.

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa.—(U.P.)—Residents of New Brighton will have more than a passing interest in one of the 50 destroyers turned over to Great Britain by the United States government.

Drifting Mines Menace Swedish Coastal Shipping

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — Many hundreds of drifting mines have been rendered harmless by the Swedish navy since the outbreak of the war.

The heavy winter storms in the North Sea have brought a very large number of such mines to the west coast of Sweden, where they have caused considerable trouble and become a great danger to Swedish coastal shipping and fishing.

Recently the navy personnel in three days disarmed or made harmless more than 98 mines of various types. Many of these mines explode by themselves through impact against the shore, often causing damage to houses and other property.

Many fishermen families have been forced to evacuate their dwellings owing to the menace of stranded mines, until disarming patrols could take care of the unwelcome guests.

PEN STARTS TO SERVE MEALS ON O. S. R. SYSTEM

Cafeteria Style, Used Here For Three Years, Now Part of Columbus Set-Up.

Ohio State Penitentiary, which this week went on a cafeteria system of feeding inmates adopted a practice which has been in effect at Ohio State Reformatory for more than three years.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent, today said that the O. S. R. adopted the cafeteria system in December, 1938 to insure the inmates of hot food and to give them an opportunity to choose the foods they liked Wasted food is cut to a minimum as a result of the cafeteria plan, Glattke stated.

The saving last year as a result of the system, was approximately $46,000 under the $130,000 total which marked the last year of table service, Glattke said.

O. S. R. inmates 2,088 who eat inside the walls, get their food in between 30 and 45 minutes, Glattke said.

Warden Frank D. Henderson said that by establishing the cafeteria system "the men will have more equitable distribution of food and will get the kind of food they want while it is hot."

The first trial of the system at Columbus completed the serving in one hour and six minutes. There are 3,600 inmates at the penitentiary.

A typical luncheon menu at O. S. R. would include, roast beef, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, escalloped potatoes, California peaches, bread, butter, iced tea and a cookie, Glattke said.

The only rule enforced at the reformatory, Glattke said, was that all food taken by an inmate must be eaten. This rule helps eliminate waste, he said.

HUNTERS HUNTED

California Cracks Down on Persons Killing Pheasants Illegally

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—(AP)—With the foreign, transplanted ringneck pheasant flourishing in California and providing much sport in the brief hunting season, game wardens find a problem on their hands in the primitive loop-type of snare.

Recently in a small area 35 of these were found, and in a single month 30 persons were convicted of illegally taking pheasants.

CURTAILED WPA PROGRAM HITS COUNTY ROADS

Only Two Instead of Eight Thoroughfares Will Be Given Resurfacing.

A reduction in the WPA funds available after July 1 will force Richland county to limit its 1941 bituminous road resurfacing project to two roads instead of the eight which were included in the original plans, according to County Engineer Howard Sword.

The engineer said only 25 per cent of the cost of projects will be available in federal funds after July 1 as compared to more than 50 per cent in the past.

Resurfacing work will be confined to the Lucas-Perrysville road in Monroe township and the Koogle-Harlan road in Mifflin township, Sword said. Work on the project is expected to start about July 15. Approximately eight and a half miles of road will be resurfaced.

When workmen complete operations this week on the Plymouth-Springmill road in Cass township, it will mark completion of the county's 1940 WPA road project, the engineer said. About 23 miles of roads in all sections of the county have been resurfaced under the project which was started last year.

Limited road funds for new construction combined with the slash in federal allotments will reduce new construction to a minimum in the county this summer, Sword added.

Preceding the recent order to curtail WPA operations, the county had planned to boost its WPA employment on road and bridge projects during the summer.

TEXAS ELECTING SENATOR AGAIN, BUT TUNEFULLY

W. Lee O'Daniel Sets Pace In Campaigning With Brunets and Hillbilly Band.

DALLAS, Tex.—(SNS)—Texas is electing a senator again, to the tune of mountain music.

The town square is empty, except for a few loafers. It is noon on a June day and the sun is hot.

A big white sound truck wheels up and stops. Eight white shirted boys and two pretty brunet girls, carrying fiddles and banjos, climb up. "W. Lee O'Daniel" is embroidered in big blue letters across their backs.

They tune up and the crowd begins to gather:

"I'll Be With You When I'm Gone," (words and music by W. Lee O'Daniel), or "Beautiful, Beautiful Texas," (words and music by W. Lee O'Daniel.)

Texas is electing a senator, and hillbilly music mingles with body blows as an unprecedented field of 27 candidates trade punches. But most of them are shooting at O'Daniel, former flour salesman, song writer, poet and old age pension advocate who prays, preaches and campaigns from the same platform.)

The governor arrives. The crowd grows.

O'Daniel, stout, round-faced, usually smiling, blazes away at his opponents, He is running for senator now and he says President Roosevelt is surrounded by pussyfooting politicians. He says Texas doesn't want any young whippersnapper as a senator, but an experienced business man.

He talks to the old folks. He says they ought to get two federal dollars for one state dollar in old age assistance. The crowd cheers. The hillbilly boys and girls shout "whoopee" and play again. One of the girls is O'Daniel's daughter, Molly, now engaged to marry a millionaire oil man's son.

This time it's a song (words and music by W. Lee O'Daniel) the governor says he sat up all night to compose and dedicate to President Roosevelt back in 1933. Then O'Daniel reviews his latest fight with the legislature, there is more music and cheers. The entourage rolls on to the next town. Half a dozen to a dozen times a day—

(Texas is electing a senator on Saturday, June 28. A one-vote plurality will turn the trick. Because O'Daniel figures poll taxempt old folks number around 200,000, he is sure he will win. There are only 800,000 instead of a million possible votes, because most people weren't figuring on an important special election and did not pay their poll taxes. But Morris Sheppard died, and the election is to fill his shoes.)

Let's look at some of the other candidates.

Gerald G. Mann is the attorney general of Texas. He is 54, dark, athletically lean, keen-eyed. A decade ago he was a southern Methodist football hero. He once was a Methodist minister; he worked his way through college. He was elected attorney general despite O'Daniel's endorsement of an opponent.

"I'm holding the only political office I ever sought," he says. "I don't know anything about politics. I'm doing this the old fashioned way.

"Theatricals are out of place in this campaign. It is no time for mountain music and showmanship."

He wants $40 a month pay for soldiers, freight rate equality for the southwest, all-out defense effort, an end to strikes in defense industries.

Now comes Lyndon Baines Johnson, also dark, young and personable, "Roosevelt and unity" is his slogan. The young New Deal congressman is campaigning with the endorsement of Speaker Sam Rayburn and is making much of President Roosevelt's statement of their "old" friendship.

ANSWERS LETTER

DENVER—(U.P.)—A pamphlet explaining the advantages of enlistment in the army brought a quick forceful reply from Flores Miller. The recruiting office received the returned leaflet with a letter saying:

"I don't think you want me. I'm not even registered for the draft. "I am a girl."

WINDING SPEEDED

FRESNO, Cal.—(U.P.)—After six years of experimenting, Ralph Abrams, Fresno automobile service plant operator, was granted a patent on a machine for winding armatures of automobile generators. Abrams said his invention speeds each job about 500 per cent.

Ex-Blue Devil Shows Training As U. S. Recruit

MONTEREY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Pvt. Jean Nougueret, 28, a trainee at the Presidio of Monterey, speaks only 12 words of English, but officers say he must of cut his teeth on the stacking swivel of a rifle."

Nougueret was a sergeant in the French army's "Blue Devil" outfit until late in 1936. Then he decided to come to the United States because he heard this country didn't believe in war. Two years later he was drafted into the American army.

Until his conscription, the Frenchman herded sheep in the high hills near Bakersfield, Cal. "Oh, well," he philosophized in his native tongue, translated by a French pal, "you can't learn English—or American—herding sheep."

According to Presidio officers, Nougueret's past service in the Maginot Line has made him one of the most apt recruits to be sent here—even if he has to interpret commands by the tone of voice used.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Charge ALCOA Fooled OPM on U. S. Aluminum Supply

SENATE GROUP ASSERTS FIRM HAD MONOPOLY

Report Says Defense Officials Misled, Nation Faces Serious Shortage.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate defense investigating committee charged in a report today that the Aluminum Company of America "had convinced the OPM of the adequacy of the supply (of aluminum) to avoid the possibility that anyone else would go into a field they had for so many years successfully monopolized."

"The investigation brought to light that we are facing a serious shortage of aluminum and that we do not now have the capacity to overcome the deficiency," said the report submitted by Sen. James M. Mead (D., N. Y.)

The committee suggested that unless new power facilities are created, the urgency of the need for electricty to produce aluminum may require rationing of electricity used in homes.

Reviewing the status of aluminum production capacity, the report charged that the OPM ignored forecasts of a shortage in capacity made by the Reynolds Metal company for a year prior to December, 1940. Reynolds recently entered the aluminum production field.

"During all this time," Mead charged, "the OPM had apparently completely relied on Alcoa as a source of information as to the availability of aluminum, and had discouraged anyone else from going into the business of producing aluminum. Alcoa was at the time the only producer in America.

"It is reasonable to conclude that Alcoa had convinced OPM of the adequacy of the supply in order to avoid the possibility that anyone else would go into a field which they had for so many years successfully monopolized."

The committee asserted that Germany and the territory she controls have a production capacity of 915,000,000 pounds annually and is constructing facilities to increase this output to 1,385,000,000 pounds by 1943. Russia and Japan now have a capacity of 330,000,000 pounds and Japan is increasing hers by 200,000,000 the committee reported.

Farewell Party Staged for 45 Leaving for Army

Mansfield last night gave a farewell party for 45 young Richland countians who will join the army Saturday and greeted 52 members of the newly-organized Ohio Home Guard unit here.

The party, arranged by the Citizens' committee and financed by public contributions, was at the American Legion home where the prospective selectees and guardsmen and their guests were entertained together.

The program included talks by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, Mayor William J. Locke, and R. B. Gardner, a floor show by talent from the Greystone night club, a lunch, and a dance. Ten hostesses were dancing partners for the boys who came without guests.

The 45 youths who have been instructed to report at the Fort Hayes induction station in Columbus Saturday, received gift Bibles and rosaries.

Members of the Home Guard Company F attended the party following their mustering ceremonies at the Armory.

BELLVILLE MAN FINED IN COURT

Pleads Guilty to Driving Auto While Intoxicated.

Kenneth L. Shrader of Bellville was fined $150 and costs today in municipal court by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch after he pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

He was arrested last night by state highway patrolmen near Bellville after Mansfield police had requested that he be taken into custody. Police based their request on complaint of Earl Snyder, 382 Altamont avenue, who said Shrader's auto had narrowly missed his car and had crashed into another parked auto near his home.

Judge Kalbfleisch suspended Shrader's driver license for a year and suspended $50 of the fine pending payment of $47 damages to the owner of the car which his vehicle struck.

Two cars were badly damaged but their owners escaped injury last night when an auto driven by Carl R. Snyder, Phoenix hotel, crashed into another owned by Leslie J. Small, Mansfield R. D. 3, at Bowman and Brick streets.

Small told police that he was visiting friends on Bowman street and had parked his car in front of their home. Hearing a crash, he said he ran out to see his car wrecked and Snyder's auto run up over the curb about 200 feet down the street.

RENEW SCHOOL BUS CONTRACT

School Officials Prepare For Pupil Transportation; Hire New Teachers.

The Mansfield board of education today had renewed for three years the school bus contract held by Mrs. Myrtle Houston, Mansfield, employed three elementary teachers, and accepted the resignations of three others.

Mrs Houston's buses have transported pupils to the city schools for 20 years, ever since buses have been used to bring pupils to school from outside the city.

Under the new contract, she will receive $7.50 per day for each of the 11 buses she operates. That figure represents a reduction of $1 90 a day from the total amount she received during the past year, Supt. of Schools V. L. Miller said.

Teachers employed by the board were Miss Virginia Mickey, Greenwich; Miss Parilee Fry, Ashley, and Miss Frances Wolfe, Ashland. They will be assigned later to their schools, Supt. Miller said.

Resigning because of marriage were the former Misses Ruth Motz, Gertrude Banks, and Sarah Catherine Wallace. They taught in the Bowman and Newman schools last year.

The board of education asked for bids on a $37,492 state school foundation program note. Bids will be opened July 21.

The state will pay the principal and interest on the note which the board of education must renew for two years. The note is one of several issued in 1938 when state school funds were low. The state department of education has retired nearly half of the debt.

O. S. R., Grafton Honor Camp Get Partial Appropriation.

The Ohio State Reformatory and the Grafton honor camp yesterday were allocated $10,700 as their part of State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood's $272,100 loan from the state emergency board.

This is in addition to a recent legislature appropriation for state welfare institutions of which the Reformatory and the honor camp were allocated $101,000 by the welfare board.

Money from the appropriation will not be available until August, so Sherwood asked the emergency board for enough money to start a planned building and repair program, Associated Press dispatches said.

Mansfield Reformatory received $7,000 and Grafton honor farm $3,700. Both funds were earmarked for immediate repairs and equipment installation

'BLUE' TROOPS FACED BY TANKS IN WAR GAMES

Ohioans Among 43,000 Taking Defensive Positions To Guard Rail Center.

(By United Press)

LEESVILLE, La.—The blue army, again defending western Louisiana in field exercises, was confronted today by a powerful red army implemented with armored units.

The fifth army corps, using 43,000 troops from the 32nd division of Michigan and Wisconsin and the 37th Ohio division, moved into defensive positions at dawn to protect the road and rail center at Kurthwood.

A red tank brigade moved north of Kurthwood along the Deridder-Leesville line in an effort to overwhelm the blue army, which repulsed them earlier in the week. This time, however, the red invasion was marked by the use of armored units for the first time.

The 37th division of Ohio soldiers rolled cautiously across the Louisiana countryside extending an advance of 22 miles which met little resistance.

They were engaged in the final phase of the "mock" war being conducted by the third army and expected to brush up against stiff "enemy" resistance at any moment after their easy progress yesterday afternoon and evening.

The 32nd division from Michigan and Wisconsin, ally of the 37th, ran into the opposing forces yesterday but managed to capture the town of Simpson.

The 148th regiment from northwestern Ohio is the advance unit of the 37th as it moves into battle. The other infantry regiments —the 145th from Cleveland, the 147th from Cincinnati and the 166th from Columbus—are used as reserve forces and for flanking movements.

The extensive maneuvers in the drouth-stricken Louisiana territory will be concluded this week and the 37th will move back to its home base at Camp Shelby, Miss., on Sunday and Monday.

Real Problem Confronts Wife And Daughter

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FARIFAX:

I am a young married woman with a small daughter. My husband has been running around with another woman and drinking constantly. He comes home from work drunk, and I've become very discouraged. I've always done everything to make him happy, and take good care of our little girl. What can I do to make him stop drinking, which I think is the cause of all our trouble?

DISCOURAGED.

When a man's character begins to go to pieces through drinking, infidelity follows almost as a matter of course.

When victims of alcoholism actually want to cure themselves of a habit that sooner or later will get the best of them, I suggest they join the group known as "Alcoholics Anonymous." I cannot give you the address of the chapter in your city, as the society insists its work should be strictly anonymous. But I can give you the address of the central headquarters, whose secretary will give you the address of your home town chapter.

If you want this, send me a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope. But the question is whether your husband actually wants to be cured of alcoholism? Some people decline to admit they are victims of the habit until it's too late to do anything about it.

I'm going to suggest you take up Vocational Training, because you may have to depend on yourself in bringing up your daughter.

Better not nag him about the other woman.

A Strange Case.

DEAR MISS FARIFAX:

We got a marriage license last winter, but before I met this girl she knew a man who still exercises a most sinister hold over her, though she no longer cares for him. He has locked her in her room, won't allow her to use the telephone, and she is so afraid of him that she dares not leave the apartment where she lives.

I want to marry this girl and have a home prepared for her but she doesn't seem able to get away. She is in terror of this man and is afraid to come.

WORRYING.

The city from which you write has excellent laws and is singularly free of gangsters. Unless this girl is mentally deficient, she could invoke the law and the young man who treats her as a jailer would be locked up.

I wonder if a girl who submits to the sort of thing you describe would really make a good wife for you. Hasn't she any backbone, independence, spunk, or whatever you choose to call it? Why doesn't she tell this man the next time he locks her in that she'll call for assistance, and inform the police.

Tell the story of this girl's captivity to the proper authorities. That's better than doing something you may regret for the rest of your life.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 27.

THE ASTRAL influences on the affairs of this day are read as most propitious. Under this urge there should be a definite advance upon cherished objectives, with the substantial cooperation of influential friends or superiors. Public work should thrive, especially under the impetus of new ideas or novel handling. A sense of duty or obligation may inspire this effort but will eventuate in private gain and advancement. Change, travel, push may promote success and bring pleasure in all relations but beware impetuosity.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the brink of a year of gratifying achievement, with financial increase, attained aims and ambitions, accompanied by the support of those in high places, probably in lines of public or community welfare. Incited by a sense of duty or obligation, this effort should result in lucrative and pleasant denouements, although there may be change, travel or revamped plans. It is a time for push and executive ability, with enhanced happiness and prestige in the domestic, social and business associations.

A child born on this day should have many talents and abilities for success in both public and private life. It should be ambitious, executive and progressive, attaining position and happiness in all its contacts and objectives.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

That my written caution was superfluous I realized from the expression on the faces of both Gus and the leader of my father's men, when they read the note I had scribbled.

"He won't get away," the leader said grimly, and Gus added a more voluble assurance.

"He won't get six inches from where we hobble him," Gus said.

"I—know—that," I said slowly, and with difficulty, but trying to make my voice sound as natural as possible. "I'll send—Mr. Veritzen—in now."

I nodded briskly as I turned away, but I heard Gus addressing the unconscious gangster as I went.

"What I'll do to you, when you come to!" he threatened. At that I turned, at the door, unsmiling now, and shook my head emphatically.

"No, Gus," I said as clearly as my bruised throat would permit. "You must—wait for—my father."

Gus Promises to Obey.

"Please don't try to talk," Gus adjured me repentently. "I won't do anything."

I smiled at him reassuringly, then went back through the bedroom door to the living room, where I found Philip Veritzen just opening the door to the hotel manager's knock. I slipped into the corner where Olga sat, secure in Philip's promise that I would not be drawn into the conversation.

Mr. Milner came into the room with the uncertain look on his face which a summons from his employer usually brings there. He bowed with his usual empressement to Olga and to me, but Mr. Veritzen addressed him with such peremptory quickness that he had no time for any colloquy with us.

"We need quick action," he said, "with all employees whose discretion cannot be trusted out of the way. There's an unconscious gangster in the next suite—five men guarding him—who must be gotten out of the hotel with as few people as possible—except those employees—seeing him. The men with the gangster will carry him. Nobody need help in that. And they have a large car parked just a little way from the hotel entrance. What can you do?"

Mr. Milner took less than a second for consideration, and I made a mental note that his dapper appearance masked an ability for swift nd resourceful action.

"Can one of those men go down and see that the car is drawn up directly in front of the area entrance, where supplies are brought in?" he asked.

"Of course," Mr. Veritzen answered. "I'll tell them that at once."

"Then," Mr. Milner said quickly, "I will see to it that nobody is in that corridor over there. We'll put men opposite doors to prevent their being opened—and if anybody tries it we'll say there's been an accident—while the men in the next room carry the gangster down in the service elevator to the cellars, and then to the area door.

"Our house detectives can be on the street, and select a minute when it's comparatively clear, for the man to be carried out.

"At any rate," he finished, "we can be sure that no police officer is on the street when the man is taken out. Fortunately New Yorkers are not curious, and are used to anything. They'll think the man is either sick or drunk, if the men carrying him play their parts well."

"They'll do that, all right," Philip Veritzen replied. "And now, come with me to the other suite, and you can fix up details with the men."

Praise From Veritzen.

His manner was one which I had seen so often in the years of my work in his organization. It said plainly: "Now this is your affair. I have outlined the plan. You are to carry it out, and not trouble me about it."

Mr. Milner bowed. "I am at your service," he said, and followed his employer out of the room. It was but a minute before Mr. Veritzen came back and walked over to the corner where Olga and I were still sitting.

"Milner's a fairly competent fellow," he said, "and you may rest assured that gangster will be taken out of the hotel with nobody but those concerned being the wiser.

"And now we are ready to take care of you, Madge. We should have done this first. I will call the house physician immediately, and then—a throat specialist."

Veal With Bacon Tasty Lunch Dish

By BETTY NEWMAN

I usually serve bacon with veal. If I roast the veal I lay strips of bacon on top. Sometimes I fry veal steak in bacon fat, serving the crisp slices of bacon with it. Today, however, let's try crumbled crisp bacon as a filip to our salad served with veal cutlet.

Today's Menu.

Veal Cutlet
Boiled Potatoes with Parsley
Mixed Vegetable Salad with French Dressing and Bacon
English Fruit Tart
Tea or Coffee

* * *

Veal Cutlet.

1½ lbs. veal cutlet, cut thick
Seasoning
1 egg
Bread crumbs

You may either cut the meat in pieces suitable for serving or leave it whole. Season with salt and pepper, and dip in well-beaten egg; drain and drop on to a paper strewn with bread crumbs. Coat thoroughly and shake off all loose crumbs. Melt and heat a little fat in heavy frying pan and cook meat until golden brown. Veal must always be thoroughly cooked. Serve with gravy or tomato souce.

* * *

Vegetable Salad.

1 head lettuce
1 or 2 green onions
6 or eight radishes
Watercress
French dressing
1 or 2 slices bacon, fried crisp

Cut all vegetables into smallish pieces and mix or toss with French dressing. Sprinkle tiny pieces of crisply fried bacon on top of salad.

English Fruit Tart.

Fresh fruit or berries
Sugar to taste
Short or flaky pastry

Prepare berries or fruit and put with sugar in a deep baking dish, add a little water to make juice, the quantity depending upon the fruit used. Roll crust thin and cover fruit with it, wetting edge of the dish to make crust adhere. Bake in moderate oven for about ½ hour. Serve hot or cold with or without cream.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T BE BLUFFED

PLENTY OF No Trump contracts are made because the opening leader is afraid to start the suit he had bid. He fears that the opponent's bidding of No Trump after his suit call shows the suit so well stopped that to lead it would be futile. As a consequence, he leads something else, and so loses a valuable unit of timing. If his own suit is of five cards, he should usually open it when it contains the ace or any two of the top four honors.

	♠ A Q 7 3 ♥ A K 8 6 ♦ 9 8 ♣ K 10 5
♠ J 6 ♥ 9 2 ♦ A Q 6 4 2 ♣ Q 9 8 6	N. W. E. S.	♠ 10 9 5 4 ♥ J 10 7 3 ♦ 10 5 3 ♣ A 2
	♠ K 8 2 ♥ Q 5 4 ♦ K J 7 ♣ J 7 4 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

West was frightened away from leading his own suit, fearing South was loaded for diamonds, and started the club 6. The A won this, and East returned his diamond 10 to the J. If West won this, his suit would be dead, so he ducked. South then led the club 4 to the 10, cashed the K and then ran three tricks in each major, making his contract.

Just notice what a difference if West had led his diamonds. Remember, the main reason for making the sort of opening bid he did was to make No Trump play hard for the enemy if North became declarer, since East would lead diamonds. If he had not been scared out of leading his diamond 4, the J would have won the 10. Declarer then would have had to try for breaks in spades and hearts. When both of those failed, he would have had to lead a club from his hand. Whether he played the 10 or K from dummy, East would win and return a diamond, producing four tricks in that suit and setting the contract.

	♠ J ♥ A 10 9 6 5 4 ♦ J 10 9 3 ♣ 7 6

	♠ K 7 5 3 ♥ 3 2 ♦ A 7 5 ♣ 10 9 3 2

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable).

If North had bid hearts, but South nevertheless leads the club 2, how should East play for 4-Spades on this deal?

EARLY PAYMENT OF TAXES GIVES COUNTY $79,482

Second Half Collection To Be Started Tuesday; It'll Be Last For Kolb.

With pre-collection receipts already amounting to $79,482, the second-half collection of Richland county real estate taxes will officially get under way next Tuesday.

When tax statements were mailed about three weeks ago, a number of property owners paid their taxes for the remainder of the year although the tax books were not officially open, Treasurer John E. Kolb said. Collections will be received until Aug. 20 without penalty.

It will be the final collection for Treasurer Kolb who will leave office in September to be succeeded by Treasurer-Elect Charles Payne of Shelby. Payne has been deputy treasurer under Kolb, who took office in 1935.

With the collection off to a good start, Kolb predicted that receipts for the year will reach the highest mark in the past decade. Collections for the first half totaled approximately $680,000, but second-half receipts are not expected to reach that mark since a few property owners paid for the entire year during the first half of the year.

More than 30,000 statements have been mailed to property owners in the county, showing them how much tax they owe for the remainder of the year.

Mailing of statements, inaugurated last year under a new state law, was credited with helping to boost the property tax payments by making it possible for real estate owners to mail checks for the proper amount in payment of their taxes.

Broadway In Summertime.

(Number Two—Because You Asked For It)

SWING LANE looks like Paris, with pavement diners crowding the little tables behind hedges on 52nd st. . . . When you cross

Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway, it's like walking in a gum drop.

John Powers' models swelter in mink and silver fox and sables as they smile for the August fur sale advertisements. . . . Sun tan lotion in the Fifth Avenue beauty shop windows.

White shoes in the picket lines . . . Fire hydrants turned on full blast for the Second avenue kiddies . . . On 45th street, the girls in their summer dresses.

Hollywood sports combinations on the Lindy regulars . . . A new social life on terraces and apartment house roofs once the sun goes down. . . . Post cards from Bucks County in the Broadwayites' mail boxes.

The neighborhood houses dig down in the files for the best revivals, and you can bet Rudolph Valentino is going to pop up again . . . Claremont Inn, which gives the natives the illusion of the country, packs in 2,000 customers on a Saturday night.

The legitimate theaters go 75 per cent dark, the lucky ones cashing in on comedy and drama and music strong enough to stand on its feet in the heat . . . At Twenty One, Gertrude Niesen wears real daisies in her hair.

Window boxes with lush blooms give the elegent Waldorf-Astoria a strange suburban air—Park avenue on a picnic . . . Waiters in pastel uniforms look like Music Hall ushers at ease.

"Relax In Your Slacks" is the slogan again on Sunday nights as Leon and Eddie's tries to lure the Station Wagonset back to the neon belt . . . Discouraged cabbies pray for a summer shower.

Tete-a-tete diners sigh at the wonders of the Central Park view from the St. Moritz roof . . . Out-of-towners stand in front of the sultry hometown news stand in Times Square reading about the heat wave back in Kokomo.

Latin entertainers from the rhumba bistros ordering chile con carne at the little Mexican restaurant near Loew's State . . The traffic cop at 42nd and Broadway mops his brow and wishes he were back pounding a beat in Queens—where at least they have trees!

Tanned faces coming out of Grand Central on Sunday nights, and the new crop of pale faces leaving the terminals for two weeks of pastoral life . . . The pop-eyed, pop-drinking, shirt-sleeved fans who trudge loyally out to Ebbets field on the hottest days to cheer "dem bums."

Sunday in the park, just as Harold Rome pictured it . . . Moist families sprawled out on the lawn during the day, and the silent couples there during the warm, romantic evenings . . . The Summer moon, big as a dollar watch, coming up over the lake.

Week-enders tie up traffic on the Express Highway Sunday night, and it can take two hours to travel from the bridge to Canal street . . . People keep talking about the Louis-Conn fight, and wondering what will happen next time.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—A bunch of old movie cowhands were lamenting the passing of the old-time cowboy stars. Talkies had driven them from the picture ranges to the two-a-day stage or to the circus. Tom Mix was gone, old Bill Hart was in retirement on his ranch, and Harry Carey—

ROBBIN COONS

"Humph!" cut in oldtimer Otto Myers. "That guy Carey's got a rubber backside. He goes down but he bounces."

Otto was a prophet. That guy Carey, even then, was banished from the movie plains, following a circus through the middle west. But he bounced. The other day, celebrating his 33rd year in the movies, they threw a party for Harry and his latest picture, "Shepherd of the Hills."

The party was at Harry's ranch near Saugus, 40 miles from Hollywood.

It's a real ranch, not one of these Hollywood half-acres with an orange tree and a station wagon.

The Careys — she was Olive Golden of the films before Harry fished her out of a location river and married her — homesteaded the place some 25 years ago. Ten years ago they built their comfortable, authentic California adobe house. That was three years after the big dam broke and washed them out, $250,000 worth.

They're a hearty clan, these Careys. Harry, getting on past 60, is sturdy and straight, blue eyes keen in genial weatherbeaten face. No fancy cowboy rig — just boots, trousers, a flannel shirt. Ollie is still slim and pretty, but no fussing about her looks. The girl Ellen (Cappy, they call her) is 17, a slim range princess who can jitterbug, ride bareback, or operate on a horse with equal expertness. The boy, Dobie, is 20, a horseman, a cowhand, a singer. Both the youngsters want to act. They got their start when Harry "supported" them in "Ah, Wilderness!" last year in the east.

The Careys have no butler, no upstairs maid, not even an upstairs. Three Navajo boys help Harry on the ranch; two Navajo girls help on the cooking and housework.

REFUSAL FORCES SHOWDOWN OVER PRICE FIXING

Congress To Be Asked to Pass Rigid Law as Result of Chrysler Action.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON.—(AP)— Leon Henderson, price administrator, announced today that both wholesale and retail prices of automobile tires and tubes would be frozen at the levels prevailing June 16.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Failure to obtain withdrawal of recent price increases in the automobile industry today forced a showdown on governmental powers to control prices in the defense emergency.

Defense officials said congress will be asked to enact rigid legislation to force compliance with the price-fixing orders of administrator Leon Henderson of the office of price control and civilian supply.

Henderson revealed soon after announcement that the government "anticipates some disagreeable instances" in seeking to stabilize prices that the Chrysler corporation had refused to withdraw increases on 1941 models.

He said a complete overall price ceiling for new automobiles, including recent dealer mark-ups and trade-in values, will be invoked on the industry.

"Refusal by the Chrysler corporation is forcing us to take the pricing of automobiles out of the hands of the industry," Henderson said, revealing that he planned a report to President Roosevelt and congress on the situation.

Henderson also had asked the Ford Motor company, the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, the Studebaker corporation and the Hudson Motor Car company to withdraw similar price increases immediately. He said the Ford request "is still pending" but released the other companies from the request following the Chrysler action.

The proposed new price ceiling probably will force the industry to reinstitute prices that were in effect during May.

Up to this time, Henderson has operated under indirect powers granted the World war industries board and those delegated to him by executive order. These powers, however, were termed by officials "as too heavy, drastic and clumsy" and were not used pending enactment of more direct legislation. Compliance with the price orders has depended largely on the voluntary cooperation of industry.

GYROS ELECT

Luft Named President of Civic Club at Meeting.

Clarence Luft, manager of the Mansfield office of Vercoe and company, was elected president of the Mansfield Gyro club last night, succeeding R. D. Lindsay, managing editor of The News-Journal.

Ray Hammer, advertising manager of Tappan Stove company, was elected vice president and Forest A. Cleland was re-elected secretary. Lindsay was elected to the board of directors.

Luft named Harold Amsbaugh, R. M. Gage and P. E. Blayney to the club membership committee.

Last night's meeting was the last regular session of the club until September. Plans were made for a week-end outing at Put-In-Bay in July and for a family picnic in August.

BLYTHIN TO RUN

Cleveland Mayor Says He'll Seek Re-election To Office.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Mayor Edward Blythin will enter the Sept. 30 mayorality primary "on the record of my performance," he announced today. Blythin's entry into the race had been expected generally, since he has served only six months in the post which he inherited when Mayor Harold H. Burton became U. S. senator.

Arthur H. Day, former Ohio supreme court judge and like Blythin a Republican, previously announced his candidacy, and Frank J. Lausche, common pleas judge and Democrat, is considering running.

6 MILLION FACE TRANSIT TIE-UP

Efforts Fail In Attempt To Settle New York Transport Workers Wage Dispute.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The threat of the worst transit tie-up in the city's history confronted New York's 6,000,000 daily subway riders.

As efforts to settle a labor contract dispute between the city and the Transport Workers union (CIO) came to naught, Michael J. Quill, president of the union, said:

"We will not work one hour of the month of July without a signed contract."

The union-sought contract, which would better the waes of 33,000 transit workers by $1 a day, appeared an impossibility as the city board of transportation flatly refused to negotiate for it.

Users of the vast underground honeycomb of the three city-owned subway systems pinned hopes for their continued operation on this statement from Mayor F. H. LaGuardia:

"On sober judgment I am sure the (union) leaders will not call a strike."

But Quill, who earlier in the day defiantly led a union delegation out of a conference with the transportation board, asserted last night:

"I think we have to have trouble. . . . There is only one way to way, the miners way, the Bethlehem Steel way."

Quill said the question of authorization for a strike would be put to union members at meetings tonight, Friday and Saturday, but indicated he had little doubt such a vote would be passed.

Merchants Have Fun at Annual Summer Frolic

(Pictures on Page 8)

Members of the Mansfield Retail Merchants' association consumed 55 chickens (285 pounds), 100 pounds of potatoes, 25 quarts of ice cream, 16 large cakes and drank five gallons of tomato juice last night at their annual good will dinner in Jeromesville.

The meal, served by the women's society of the Jeromesville Methodist church, followed a manager vs. employe baseball game which ended in a 1-1 tie, according to Wayne Huffman, umpire, who tore up the score card to avoid controversy.

Arrangements for the affair were planned by the following committee: John W. Graham, chairman, C. H. Saylor, Bartlow Earick, W. S. Ross, M. V. Scouten and F. H. Garrison. Captain of the managers' baseball team was C. H. Saylor and the captain of the employes' team was O. L. Smith.

After dinner a musical program was presented by the Smart studio featuring songs from the audience as well as instrumental numbers.

COLLECTIONS INCREASE

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Sales tax collections for the week ended June 14 totaled $1,314,848, and were more than $300,000 more than in the corresponding period of 1940. To date this year the total is $26,181,599, as against $20,983,767 last year.

TELL POLICE OF SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES, LIONS CLUB TOLD

Importance of reporting suspected subversive activities to Mansfield police or the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Cleveland or Washington was emphasized last night by Police Chief M. K. Bates in a talk before the Mansfield Lions club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Because of the present situation in Europe, Mansfield and all other cities are taking steps to guard against the disruption of industry and community service by subversive elements," Bates told the club.

"To combat activities of such persons and groups, it is necessary that citizens contact police headquarters or federal agents and inform them of persons acting suspiciously and about those who make statements which are against our government.

"This program has not grown out of an alarmist viewpoint. It is merely a protective measure which cities must take in times like we have now."

Following Bates' talk the club elected officers.

A. H. Fankhauser was re-elected president; and other officers named were: Charles L. Kafer, first vice president; Paul T. Hoffman, second vice president; Grattan H. Johnson, third vice president; Don Snyder, secretary; P. J. Mayer, treasurer; Morris Marquis, lion tamer and Richard C. Rowley, tail twister.

Directors elected were Dr. Paul R. Maxwell, and John M. Schroeder for terms of two years, and L. L. Avington, one year. They will serve with M. W. Liston, a holdover member.

Charges Highway Department Uses "Citizenship Day" Disguise.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Democratic Chairman J. Freer Bittinger today criticized the state Republican administration for what he called its sponsorship of "political rallies" under the disguise of citizenship day meetings.

He charged that state highway department district officials have passed out books of citizenship day tickets priced at $5 each to highway employes with no returns of unsold books permitted.

Up and Down The Street

Mansfield's Hungarian population is brushing up on the new titles in Hungarian literature as the result of a loan of 20 books by the Toledo Public library to the local Newman Street branch. Requests for Hungarian literature are second only to those for German titles, according to Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, with Italian and modern Greek subjects also in great demand.

Youth Meets Death As Plane Goes Into Tailspin.

TOLEDO—(INS)—The flying careers of two 16-year-old self-instructed aviators came to a tragic end today when a small Taylor-Cub plane went into a tailspin and crashed, killing Francis Adler, the pilot and seriously injuring Raymond Berger, a passenger.

Airport attendants said Adler had taken his friend, who had 15 hours in the air, up for a ride yesterday to demonstrate his ability when the plane went out of control and crashed.

WOULD PERMIT AMERICANS TO JOIN BRITISH

Washington Hears Deferments To Be Granted Volunteers For England, China.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States probably will give formal, full-fledged approval within a few days to the enlistment of American men in the British or Chinese war effort, either for actual combat duty or for non-combatant technical work behind the lines.

The enlistments would be sanctioned officially as service in the interest of national safety.

Informed persons predicted this development would come with issuance by selective service headquarters here of a memorandum to state directors formally directing that deferment be given to registrants who wish to volunteer for duty abroad.

A final decision to issue the memorandum has not been made, officials said, but at selective service headquarters it was looked upon as a virtually inevitable step after President Roosevelt told his press conference Tuesday that any man who wants to enlist in Britain's or China's fighting forces has a perfect right to do so.

The president explained the British no longer require Americans to take an oath of allegiance to the king, a procedure by which they would lose their American citizenship and become British subjects.

Previously the administration had approved a British drive in this country to recruit several thousand technicians to help manufacture and service Britain's new airplane radiolocator, or to do other expert mechanical duty.

The president's statement generally was looked upon here as little more than an invitation to American youths so inclined to enlist. Canada, it was pointed out, was convenient for this purpose, as far as volunteers for Britain are concerned.

The hitch at present to any general movement of that sort, however, lies in the fact that most men of fighting quality or high technical efficiency are within the 21-35 age group registered for military training here under the selective service act.

REVENUE HUNT ON IN ILLINOIS

100 Bills Are Introduced In Assembly To Impose Additional Taxes.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(U.P.)—The nation's watchword may be reduction of non-defense government expenditures, but Illinois legislators in the current 62nd General Assembly have introduced more than 100 bills dealing with taxation, many calling for new or higher levies.

None of the taxes has been offered as defense measures. Only Gov. Dwight H. Green's program of new taxes on cigarettes and oil and doubled levies on beer, wine and hard liquor can be expected from the general effort to impose additional burdens on the state's tax-payers.

The administration program is designed not to produce added revenues for the state treasury but to raise $47,000,000, approximately two-thirds of the $65,000,000 the state expects to lose in 1941-43 through dropping the sales tax from 3 to 2 per cent this July.

Other tax bills nearly run the gamut of taxable subjects. One of the latest introduced in the Illinois house would tax bottle sales of soft drinks at 20 per cent, and tack a 76 cents a gallon levy on soft drink syrups. Another would tax cigars at 20 per cent.

The House Democratic minority leader, William Vicars of Pontiac, has a bill on file to tax Illinois incomes at 1 per cent from this July until July 1, 1943, when the rate would be stepped up to 2 per cent. The sales tax would be reduced in 1941-43 and eliminated thereafter.

In both senate and house are measures to tax oil and natural gas imported into the state, as well as natural gas produced in Illinois. Green's oil bill is a tax on the state's production only, at a 3 per cent rate.

Pari-mutuel horserace wagering would be subject to a 2½ per cent daily levy under a proposal in the senate, and the house has a bill to license racing and take part of the proceeds as a tax.

Chain retail stores face a burden of $25 to $1,000 per store if a house measure sponsored by two Chicago representatives wins legislative approval. Still another bill would permit cities to tax dealers in second hand automobiles.

Several bills seek increased levies for various school purposes, and there are others on hand that would authorize higher levies for blind relief, for libraries, for streets and park recreational facilities, and for bridges, for mothers' pensions, for state institutions.

MILT AND GUS

MARGARETVILLE, N. Y.—(INS)—This is a story about a couple of guys named Milt and Gus. About a year ago, Margaretville was sorely in need of a resident surgeon. One came. But that failed to end the doctor trouble. Everything ran along smoothly while Dr. Milton Tepfer was practicing here. Now, however, has come Dr. Gustav A Tepfer, no relative. Villagers intend no disrespect, but they're reduced to the necessity of employing Milt and Gus for the purpose of differentiation.

The Secret of the Marshbanks + + +

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XXV

"Who Killed Judson Marshbanks?" headlined the newspapers. Everyone speculated, and everyone's guess seemed as reasonable as that of everyone else's.

"Cherry, you must have a theory," Kelly said one day when they were climbing the hill at Sausalito behind Topcote, and had sat down on the trunk of a fallen eucalyptus to breathe—a singing winter day of sunshine and blue skies.

"I have about four," she answered judicially. "And Amy would add one to that. She has strong suspicions of you."

"Interesting," commented Kelly, pushing mud from his heavy, high-laced shoes with the point of his stick.

"But after all, she may have no more than four," pursued Cherry, "for one of my four is Amy herself. Oh, I don't really think she had anything to do with it," she interrupted his quick, surprised look. "But she had a motive. She knew that Uncle Jud was the only person who could really do anything about this question of her identity and mine. She was frightened—about the shame of it, and the money, of course, and above all, about Gogo. Amy knew in her heart that Gogo would leave her flat if anything like that came out. She said to me yesterday that Gogo wouldn't marry a woman without money because everything he has was tied up in his brother's estate The brother has a son, but he's an idiot, so Gogo will be regent—as he calls it, some day — but it means he is always short for ready cash.

"Same old story, Marchioness. His father or his grandfather probably had some phony claim to the title; nobody questions those things over there. Well, let Amy learn as the others have! She'll be heading for Reno in two years, and about half a million out of pocket . . . So Amy," Kelly said, in a mildly pleased tone, "suspects me?"

"I don't say she suspects you. But she knows you liked Fran, and that you were there that night, and she asked me the other day if I thought by any chance you and Uncle Jud could have had a quarrel."

"Ha! I wonder if she suspects Gogo?"

"She was in perfect terror until he'd been cleared."

"Amy acts like a person completely innocent"

"She does, but at the same time she and I and the old lady are hiding what did actually go on that night, what the discussions and quarrels were about, and I marvel sometimes that they, the police, don't smell a rat!"

"There's Fran," Kelly said thoughtfully, stuffing his pipe.

"Oh, she wouldn't!"

"She's just the one who would, and could, but for all that I don't think she did," the man mused. "Fran is one of those curious women whose morals are entirely personal If she wants to do a thing, it's right."

"Who was she telephoning to that night, Kelly?"

"Any one of a dozen men. Men fall for her the way soft coal goes into basements."

A few moments later, they returned to the house. Cherry pulled on her hat and handed Kelly her coat to hold for her "I hate to go back," she said

Kelly adjusted the collar in back, squared her about with his big hands on her shoulders and carefully buttoned her coat.

"You don't have to go back, you know," he said, after a moment in which he had cleared his throat

"It would be so good," she said, her raised face close to his, "to belong here. Just peaceful days and meals and digging in the garden and climbing the hill! We could have a grill outdoors, you know, and have people come over for Sunday lunches, and then, when they left, it'd be so marvelous to go inside, and close the door against the night and the dark, and light lamps, and sit by the fire!"

"Why don't you do it, Cherry?"

"Because from the very beginning, Kelly, from the time I first knew you, I've known you didn't love me. And if I ever came here," Cherry said, "I'd wont you to be so mad about me that you could hardly bear it. I'd want you to feel that marriage—marriage between us—was a miracle, and that if ever we had a child it would be a miracle to you, too, just as it would be to me! Do I —" Cherry finished, speaking not very steadily, and with tears on her eyelashes, "do I make myself clear?"

"And suppose I said that it was that way with me, Cherry," the man answered, catching her lightly by the upper arms with both big hands, holding her face to face with him. "Suppose I told you, on my sacred oath, that for weeks, months, I didn't know what was the matter with me, and that after you went away this summer it came to me suddenly that it was you—that it's been you for a long time. What would you say then, Marchioness?"

"I'd say —" she stammered, "don't—don't fool me, Kelly."

"Cherry," he asked, and now she was crushed so tight against his heart that she could not find breath to answer, "will you marry me, darling? Will you change my whole life for me, and make it the most wonderful life that any man ever had in this world? Will you, Marchioness?"

After a while he had to take her home For even with the most expeditious plans in the world, they had to wait until such time as they could drive to San Rafael for a marriage license, and Cherry had to obtain permission from the authorities to leave the Marshbanks house.

They had decided not to tell anyone the news immediately. Wiser to wait until she and Kelly had perfected every last detail But even if she had determined to take Amy into her full confidences, she would have had small chance of interesting Amy tonight. For Amy and her Gogo had flown to Reno that morning, had been married in the afternoon, and it was the Countess Gregorio Francisco Mario Alexandro Stanislaus Constantino who seated herself upon Cherry's bed and poured forth the thrilling tale of her day's adventures.

"There was a balance at the bank, you know," Amy confided, "and—it was so cute!—when we went there yesterday I said, 'Of course half of that's yours.' 'How do you mean, you crazy, generous baby?' he said. 'I mean that half of everything I have is yours, Gogo,'—I told him. It was money that had been piling up since my grandfather died, and some of the Porter money. Most of it, of course, they invested as it came in, and half of that'll be his, too. But this was just a few thousands,' Amy went on carelessly; "eleven thousand and some hundreds, and so he got his half and really I think he was touched. I mean, he didn't say much, but when we were back in the car he told me it was because he couldn't say much. He said it came at a time when it was really important, that in this particular month he'd had some assessments or something to meet, and that he suspected that he was going to have the most thoughtful little wife a man ever had. I can't tell you, Cherry," Amy said, her face glowing, "how it makes me feel when he says things like that. I just seem to melt."

"Oh, Amy, I hope it all goes right! When—when are you going to tell people?" Cherry asked too genuinely shocked to remember any personal feeling with which she had entered the room.

"I'm going to tell my grandmother tonight"

"She'll have ten thousand fits."

"It will only be one more thing to fuss about," Amy said indifferently. "She'd be fussing about something, anyway. You know, Cherry, if he hadn't been her own son, I'd have believed that she shot Uncle Jud."

"That's nonsense," Cherry said. "I don't mean that she'd go down there and plan to shoot him," Amy said, "but she was perfectly wild that night over all that stuff that Emma told you, and that revolver was lying right there. For that matter," the girl went on, "everyone in the place had a motive to kill him But in this case—look how my left hip simply bulges out like a watermelon. Isn't it sickening"

"I can't see the slightest difference from the other. Amy, you're not going off with Gogo tonight?"

"I am going off with Gogo tonight I am not sure where. But anyway, he's calling for me at half past seven, and I have to see Gran and have a scene before that"

So confident, so pretty, so insolent! Amy had a four days' seniority over Cherry, but Cherry felt the older by that many years.

"Did they find any will of your father's?" she asked almost involuntarily, out of thought. For Amy had recently had long sessions with lawyers.

Amy shrugged indifferently. "No. No will." And she dropped a gown over her head, pulled it into place, jerked a zipper.

"But, of course, there was my grandfather's will," she said. "What my father left wasn't so much, it'll only bring me in—oh, maybe three or four thousand a year. So that his having left a will or not didn't count. I know how you feel, Cherry," said Amy, her speech somewhat impeded by the lipstick she was carefully pressing upon her mouth, "And I know you believe what Emma said, of course I do! I mean, I'd trust you to say what you honestly and absolutely believed was the truth, and so far as that goes, there isn't any resentment on my part of any kind or description . . ."

A few moments later Amy went to her grandmother's room, and when she emerged Cherry saw that her face was flushed and her eyes wet.

"I hate her!" she whispered, concluding with angry jerks the packing that she had commenced earlier in the evening "She and her theatricals! She thinks 'there's a curse on this wretched family!' If there is, she's it. Gloves and my coat, and Martin will come up for the bag—" Amy murmured in rapid review. And then, with a sudden kiss and hug: "Good-bye, Cherry darling, take care of yourself and graduate at the top of the class! Write me all the news, but I'll see you before we go, anyway; this rotten investigation may continue on for weeks! Oh, and Cherry, you tell Fran. She's out."

"She's back," said Cherry. "I just saw her come in."

"Well, you tell her anyway! Good-bye!" Amy was gone in a trail of excited laughter. Cherry heard Gogo's rich, low voice in the lower hall; then the front door closed, and Martin walked back alone.

KEEPS DIARY

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — (U.P.) — Charles Morgan, aged Bloomington resident, ought to qualify as something of a historian and weather expert. He has kept a diary of weather and other topics for 45 years.

He began the personal journal in 1896 in a vestpocket memorandum, and it has now grown to fill 29 large ledger books, each one containing the record of his activities and comments for about two years.

REJECTS INCREASE

BOSTON—(INS)—"Just personal reasons," was the only reason advanced for the refusal of a $20-a-week employe of the Boston licensing board to accept a $100 a year raise. Appearing before the budget commissioners, Louis Epple, secretary of the licensing board, said that the requested appropriation for 1941 took into consideration the fact the clerk did not want his annual step-rate wage increase.

POORLY PAID

PEKING, China — (INS) — The equivalent of three American dollars is the current rate for mass assassination by the bombing method prevailing in Shanghai. Terrorists arrested by the Shanghai International Settlement police confessed that they had received that small sum plus a "potato masher" type of hand grenade before being sent on their appointed mission.

Braves Split With Fremont While Tiffin Wins Again

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

There's nothing so fine on a hot summer day,
Than to have someone take this column away.
So take it away Hammerin'
Harry the Meanderin' Mehock.

(At least the following epistle from Hamilton, Ind., is signed Hammerin' Harry the Meanderin' Mehock, but I rather suspect the fine feminine hand of Beautiful Bea the Mrs. Mehock.)

Dear Rexford:

I do scan your Sports Podge,
I'm not one to scoff,
It seems that you judge me
When my game was off.

If I were in Mansfield
I'd picket the News
With signs saying "Hess is Unfair with his views."

I'd take out my golf clubs,
Knock my ball a loop,
While my girls would cheer me
With many a whoop.

And they'd give you a whoop
Each time you drove off,
For, believe it or not,
They have whooping cough.

* * *

(They really have, and that's no poem. What? Neither is this?
—H. H the M. M.)

So practice your golf game,
Go out every day,
For I'll play you next fall
And you'll have to pay

Tho' I can't play much golf,
I'm building sand dunes,
I've learned to make faces
And whistle them tunes.

Anyone who can read
"Horton Hatches an Egg"
Can beat you at golf, Rex,
And play on one leg.

So I've given up golf, to Read "Winnie-the-Pooh."
I read it with feeling,
The Pooh part's for you.

Yours truly,
Hammerin' Harry,
Meanderin' Mehock.

POPE FIGHTS BROWN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Freddie Pope, undefeated Columbus bantamweight, will meet Cleaveland Brown of Dayton in a 10-round bout here next Tuesday evening. Pope, who was suspended by the local boxing commission for failing to go through with a scheduled fight with Brown two months ago, agreed to meet the Dayton battler yesterday. Pope was reinstated after agreeing to fight Brown within 60 days of May 1.

Bob Feller Gallops to Tribe Aid

Ace Called on To Halt Latest Losing Streak.

BOSTON—(AP)—That young reliable, Bob Feller, came galloping to the Redskins rescue today.

Knocked out of first place by the Boston Red Sox as the Yankees took the lead with a victory over St. Louis, Cleveland needs a win with Feller today to salvage the last game of the Boston series. The Indians lost two in Washington and then Feller won. They have lost two in Boston, and their second eastern trip stands at four up and seven down.

On his record of 15 wins to three losses, Rapid Robert is a five to one shot to pull them through today. His opponent is left-handed Mickey Harris.

The Sox climbed to within two games of the Tribe on yesterday's 7 to 2 win, with that old-timer Lefty Grove pitching. Jim Bagby allowed nine hits to the seven which Cleveland made, and was the loser. Cleveland had 11 stranded on the bases, to Boston's six, which made the difference.

For the first time since the season was in its infancy the New York Yankees are in first place in the American league today and now the pressure is on the Cleveland Indians

Critics of Cleveland always have contended the Indians were front runners who would fold up if the going got tough and the Yankees are not going to let anybody wait till September to find out.

The Yanks captured the lead yesterday by bumping the St Louis Browns 7-5 while the third-place Boston Red Sox raided the Tribe 7-2.

Joe DiMaggio led the bombing in New York with a two-run homer that extended his hitting streak to 37 games, four short of the record, and made 20 consecutive contests in which one or more of the Yankees have hit home runs. It was the Yanks' 13th triumph in 16 games.

The best one-game pitching show of the season, was staged for a little throng of 2,000 fans at Washington yesterday when John Rigney and Sid Hudson struggled for 12 scoreless innings before the White Sox downed the Senators 2-0 in the 13th.

The Philadelphia Athletics nosed out the Detroit Tigers 5-4 with a triple by Al Brancato scoring two runs and deciding the game in the fourth frame

In the National league the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers both won, preserving the half game margin between them.

Ernie White held the Boston Braves to seven hits and fanned nine as the Cardinals coasted to a 6-2 decision after tallying five times in the first two frames. The Dodgers squeezed past the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 with two runs in the eighth inning on a single and two doubles.

* * *

The New York Giants cleaned up on the Chicago Cubs 4-1 with three runs in the first inning on Hank Danning's triple and steady eight-hit hurling by Rookie Bob Carpenter.

Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from the Phillies 8-3 and 5-1.

TY HOLDS TROPHY FOR BEATING BABE RUTH

NEWTON, Mass. —(INS)— Ol' Ty Cobb may or may not have been a greater baseball player than Babe Ruth, but one thing was certain today. Ol' Ty is a more consistent golfer.

To prove it, Ty held a possession of the silver trophy put up by film star Bette Davis. And in Ty's own words "I've got something to hand down to my grandchildren. I beat Babe Ruth at golf."

Retail Clubs Groan Today

Softball Game Brought Pain To Merchants.

A check-up of hospitals in the Mansfield area today failed to disclose any casualties from the softball game between the managers and employes held as a feature of last evening's good will outing and dinner of the Mansfield Retail Merchants association.

It was reported, however, that searching parties were being organized today to go over the battlefield at Jeromesville where the noble athletes hopped around so sprightly last evening.

They weren't hopping and they weren't so sprightly today when they reported for work. They were groaning all over the place as they limped around on charley-horses and carried sore arms in slings.

Who won the game nobody knows, for sure. So many runs were chased over the platter that the fracas was called long before the tilt reached regulation distance. The employes claim they won by a large margin, but the managers are willing to settle for a tie.

Batteries were C. H. Saylor and McCoy for the managers, and Karnes and J Saylor for the employes. Managers of the clubs were C. H. Saylor for the managers, and O. L. Smith for the employes.

Skeet Shooters Sharpen Eyes

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's expert skeet shooters are sharpening their eyes for the state championsip matches here Saturday and Sunday. One of the largest fields in the tournament's seven-year old history is expected to fire at the flying targets.

The defending champions, E. F. Adams of Toledo, small bore, Dr. John H. Nichols of Cleveland, 20-gauge, and M. L. Smythe of Aurora, all-bore, will seek to repeat.

In addition, two Ohio women who won national fame as skeet shooters will contend for titles.

They are Miss Patricia Laursen of Akron, women's all-gauge champion, and Mrs. L. L. Smythe of Aurora, small-gauge titleholder.

LEIBER IMPROVES

CHICAGO—(INS)—Hank Leiber, Chicago Cubs outfielder,, was said to be progressing favorably today at Illinois Masonic hospital, where he is under treatment for a slight concussion suffered in the Cubs-Giants game Tuesday when he was accidentally "beaned" by Pitcher Cliff Melton. X-rays showed conclusively that Leiber had sustained no fracture.

Leiber Beaned Second Time

For the second time in his major league career, Hank Leiber, Cubs' outfielder, was beaned by a pitched ball, this time by Cliff Melton of the Giants in a game in Chicago. He was quickly revived, however, but went to a hospital for observation. He is shown on the ground here with Catcher Harry Danning of the Giants at right and Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs at left. In 1937, while with the Giants, Leiber was struck by one of Bob Feller's fast balls during an exhibition game.

Collegiate Golf Stars Battle For Semi-Final Positions

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Sixteen stars from 11 schools, survivors of the 64 who started match play yesterday, battle today for berths in the semi-finals of the 44th national intercollegiate golf championship.

Everyone had an eye on Stanford's great four-man squad, winner of the team title. The quartet of Indians roared through two sets of victories yesterday, and they made up half the top bracket as play started today.

* * *

Should they win their third round matches, the coast crew would be the only one left in the upper half of the draw, leaving the four stalwarts to cut each other down through the quarter and semi-final rounds.

All were booked against outside opposition in the third set, with Warren Berl, runner-up in 1939, meeting Marshall Carlson of Toledo, the Ohio conference champ; Ray Brownell clashing with A. C. Williams, Yale star; Dee Replogle competing against Alex Welsh, the Big Ten king from Illinois, and Charles Finger meeting Danny Carmichael, Princeton's basketball captain, baseball pitcher and mashie swinger de luxe.

Down in the lower half were F. Nixon Brooke, the defending champion from Virginia, who tackles six-foot five-inch William Zylstra of Michigan State, the only dark horse among the 16 survivors; Otto Greiner, Baltimore's fine threat who takes on Richard Wolfely of Illinois, runner-up for the Big Ten laurels; E K. Gravely of Yale, who faces the task of upsetting Earl Stewart, Louisiana State's medalist and tourney favorite who is three under par for 68 holes, and Bob Brownell of Duke, the southern intercollegiate ruler, who meets Gary Middlecoff, an outstanding threat from Mississippi.

The survivors of the morning matches were due for another round in the quarter finals this afternoon, both over the 18-hole route. The semi-finals, at 36 holes, are booked Friday, with the championship scheduled Saturday over the same distance.

MAURER RETURNS TO SCENE OF TRIUMPHS

UHRICHSVILLE — (INS) — Donald "Chick" Maurer, athletic director at Springfield township (Summit county) high school the last five years, is coming back to Uhrichsville high school, scene of his scholastic triumphs, as athletic director. He will succeed Harry Adams, who accepted the position of assistant football coach at Kent State university.

Picks All-Star Team In Hurry

Chooses Club of Three For Detroit Game.

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK—(UP)—Having been urged by nobody to pick teams for the all-star game in Detroit on July 8, I shall now proceed to do same.

This is the time of year when Major league managers fret and fume trying to decide whether to put Joe Doakes and his curve of Bill Zilch and his fast one on the all-star squad. No such doubts assail me. In fact, I picked my American League team in 11 seconds flat and required only a little more time to put down the National League outfit. Here, for the benefit of harassed managers, are my selections:

NATIONAL	AMERICAN
Mize, 1b	J. DiMaggio, 1b
Herman, 2b	J. DiMaggio, 2b
Hack, 3b	J. DiMaggio, 3b
Jurges, ss	J. DiMaggio, ss
T. Moore, cf	J. DiMaggio, cf
Slaughter, lf	J. DiMaggio, lf
Nicholson, rf	J. DiMaggio, rf
Danning, c	Dickey, c
Walters, p	Feller, p

A few minor changes in the rules will be necessary to play this contest. The principal change is that DiMaggio shall be designated as "a rover" and be allowed to station himself any place on the diamond where there is a spot of shade. With Feller pitching the entire game (that rule about no pitcher going more than three innings has been barred) we figure there won't be anything much for DiMaggio to do while the National league team is at bat.

Someone is bound to raise the question of what will happen in event all three of the American league players get on base at the same time, leaving no one to bat. The answer is, "don't be silly," Feller never will get on base, Dickey will hit nothing but doubles and DiMaggio will go to bat 21 times and get 21 home runs.

It Pays To Look Well

Green Sox Lead Cut Another Half Game

Coleman Helps Win Own Game with Double, Okleson Drops Second

MANSFIELD BRAVES split even with the Ohio State league-leading Fremont Green Sox last night at the Fairground, trimming the pace-setting margin of Chappie Geygan's gang to two and a half games over Tiffin's Mud Hens who walloped Findlay 11 to 6.

The Braves took the opener 6 to 5 after a long, uphill battle, and dropped the second tilt 3 to 5, remaining three and a half games behind Fremont, and dropping a full game back of Tiffin.

Lima took Fostoria 9 to 5 in the other loop fracas to climb out of the cellar once more and plunge the Red Birds back into the coal hole.

* * *

Burly Jim Coleman, who should have had the first victory without much effort but for some erratic support that doesn't appear in the box score, pitched his heart out to stay even with the Sox, and then crashed through with a ringing double down the right field foul line to start the winning rally in the eighth.

* * *

Each club got a run in the second inning. Fremont on a hit batsman and two singles, and Mansfield on Moore's single, a force-out by Clowson, a walk to Coleman and a single by Bob Ankrum.

The Braves went a run to the good in the fourth when Graf Moore led off with a double and tallied on Clowson's single.

Fremont came back with three runs in the fifth. Toth and Oddo led off with singles. Eagan fanned. Gerken walked. Sprys fanned, but Ramsey lofted a triple to the centerfield corner to clear the sacks.

The Braves matched those three runs in the last of the fifth. Mangan was hit by a pitched ball, and strolled around on Eddie Mutryn's towering homer over the centerfield fence. Seigbert walked, Clowson singled, and Wolpert also singled, driving in the third marker.

* * *

The Sox tied it up at 5 to 5 in the sixth on three fluke hits. Behrens and Toth lofted high flies to short that became lost in a "blind spot" and dropped safely. Then Gerken got a life when his short fly dropped between Morse and Clowson in center, and Behrens scored.

Coleman blanked the Hose for the last three frames, and in the eighth smacked his double to right, and scored on a single by Dick Morse.

Rudy Okleson hurled sensational ball for the Braves in the afterpiece, until he needed to retire only four more men to gain a 1 to 0 shutout victory.

The Braves had chalked up a run in the fifth on Clowson's double and Wolpert's single, and the run looked big enough to win as Rudy fanned Sprys and Ramsey in the sixth after Gerken singled and stole second.

Rudy's first pitch had Hausman swinging like a rusty gate, but Okleson couldn't find the plate again and Hausman walked on the next four pitches. Miesley got a ground-rule double under the f [illegible] in left, scoring Gerken with the tying run. Moore dropped Fisher's high pop in front of the plate after the entire infield gathered around the spot, and Hausman scored. Toth singled, Oddo doubled, five runs were in, and Rudy was out, replaced by Pat Pat erson.

In the seventh Clowson drew a walk and Wolpert was hit by a pitched ball. Patterson con-

Huskies Take Hudson Race

Washington Crew Wins By Three Lengths.

By SID FEDER

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—(AP)—It probably comes as no surprise to you to learn that, for competitive thrills, the annual intercollegiate regatta packs about as much punch these days as target practice at the Empire State building with over-ripe tomatoes as ammunition.

With rowing as a major industry of the Far West, probably second only to making movies, it's getting so you know beforehand it'll be either Washington or California in a breeze. And when the Huskies of Washington rowed off and hid from the others along about dusk last evening, it was about as astonishing as finding a knife, fork and spoon at your place when you sit down to dinner.

It was such a soft touch, you wondered if Washington and California, who chased the Huskies home, had any other reason for coming than to train a lot of young fellows how to keep their waist lines down.

Of course, the big guys who win have the fun every year of dunking their little winning coxswain into the Hudson. Vic Fomo got it yesterday for 'coxing" his third winning Husky crew. He did it two years ago with his freshman outfit, last year with the Jayvee boatload, and this year with a varsity that won by three lengths and looked like it could have come in by thirteen.

With California bouncing in with the junior varsity affair this year, the east's only consolation was Cornell's triumph in the freshman two miles. The Huskies and the Bears didn't bring freshman boatloads with them.

At the finish of the four mile "derby route" the Huskies were more excited about what was coming up for dinner than they were about the win. They rowed over to the sun-steaming judges' boat and only wanted to know what their time was. Just for the record, it was 18 minutes, 53.3 seconds.

Back of the two far western craft came, in order, Cornell, Syracuse, Princeton, Wisconsin, Rutgers, Massachusetts Tech, and Columbia.

For the ho-hum department, the Washington win marked the eighth time in nine years the Pacific pullers have hit the Poughkeepsie jackpot.

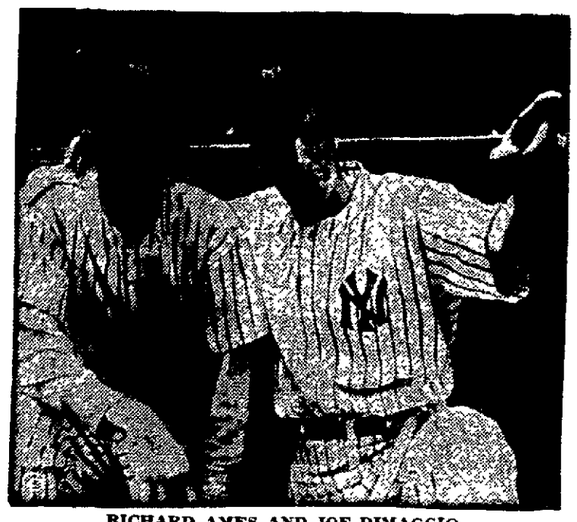
Yanks Grab Yale Pitcher



RICHARD AMES AND JOE DIMAGGIO

Right-handed pitcher from Yale university, Richard Ames, left, is made to feel at home in Yankee stadium, New York, by Joe DiMaggio as the former worked out with the team. Ames has been signed by the Yanks for their Binghampton club. He won six for the Yales this year.

Pro Fight Show Being Planned

Mike Goetz, Cleveland fight promoter and manager, was in town last night, going over plans with Johnny Villella for the staging of a professional mitt show at the armory in the near future.

Goetz, recently returned from a trip to Chicago and Indianapolis, lined up a Chicago bout for Dick Honeyboy Jones with Tony Zale, middleweight champion, probably in six weeks, and reported that promoters in the Chicago area are interested in booking Mansfield's Paul Carbetta who was a hit in the mid-west Golden Gloves tourney this spring at Chicago.

Villella, who is managing Carbetta, agreed with Goetz that it would be better for Carbetta to get his professional start in his home town, where he already has one knockout victory to his credit.

* * *

Villella also announced plans for opening a gym, and possibly an athletic club.

Settle Four League Tilts

Batsmen Have Big Night In Commercial Frays.

Commercial league sluggers were on the warpath last night as four tilts were settled in inter-family battles. Tappan's blasted the Farm Tools club 26-5; N. and W. Coals walloped the Town Tavern crew 20-8; Athletic Supplies defeated Isalys 9-4, and Mansfield Tire took Humphryes into camp 6-3.

Patterson, Hoffman and McIntire led the Tappan attack, Patterson and Hoffman both connecting for homers. Whitman and E. Backen got two bingles apiece to spark the losing Farm Tools.

Each sending one out of the lot, Laughman and Parr led the Coal Heavers assault. Waibly and the Windsor boys got two out of four for the Tavern club.

Isaly's batsmen outhit the Supplies but were unable to push runs across and came out of the fray on the short end of the score. Prosser had a perfect evening for Isaly's with three out of three. Bush got two out of three for the Supplies.

* * *

Schmidt led the Tire assault with a perfect three for three. Simpson did the same trick for Humphryes. Both teams connected for ten bingles.

Cobb, Ruth Renew Rivalry

TY COBB

After many years of inactivity, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth, two of the greatest baseball players of all time, return to the sports whirl with a charity golf match in Boston and a second 18-hole match in New York two days later. Cobb and Ruth both are fair golfers.

Kansas City Takes Association Lead

The Kansas City Blues were back in first place in the American association race today—and the lowly Milwaukee Brewers had a lot to do with this latest change in the standings.

* * *

Milwaukee, making its second start under its new manager, Charley Grimm, knocked over the Minneapolis Millers. The defeat sent the Millers tumbling to second place as Kansas City took over the top spot by coming from behind and defeating St. Paul, 5-4, scoring three runs in the last of the ninth on three singles and Bill Hitchcock's triple.

Milwaukee beat Minneapolis, 7 to 5, sewing up the game by scoring twice in the seventh on singles by Lou Novikoff, Ted Gullic, Arnold Moser and Joe Just.

Louisville got back into winning ways, defeating Columbus, 6 to 1, behind steady pitching by Oscar Judd, who allowed the Red Birds eight hits. Toledo's Mud Hens pounded out 16 hits to defeat Indianapolis, 13 to 3.

Tri-State Tourney Narrows Down

CINCINNATI—The field in the tri-state tennis tournament narrows down today as eight men and eight women go into quarter-finals matches most of which were indicated by the seedings.

* * *

PAR ELUDES GOLFERS FROM WESTINGHOUSE

Cards of 39 were turned in by Backman, Allen, Mayer, Tipul, and Kushin. Pashulish won the blind bogey with a handicap total of 35.

Manager Clowson Draws Suspension

The suspension was the result of the argument last Friday night when Clowson was ejected from the game here with Findlay by Umpire Art Haag.

It leaves the already badly crippled Braves in sad need of a centerfielder since it was not known this morning whether the injured Bill Salem would be able to return to his regular pasture for tonight's game.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Poughkeepsie pickups: the talk along rowing row all week has been that Washington's Al Ulbrickson's will get a bid from Yale to take Ed Leader's place. . . . The Eli alumni think something must be done about Harvard's string of victories and the Crimsons won't go to Poughkeepsie to let Ulbrickson do it with his Huskies. . . . Like Washington, George Pocock couldn't lose yesterday. He built all the boats in the race.

ONE MINUTE INTERVIEW.

Ty Cobb: "I like to watch baseball but I haven't seen a game yet this year. Maybe it's because the mistakes I see on the field drive me wild. Maybe it's because I hate the change that's come over the game. When the value of one run was destroyed, a big kick was taken out of the game for me."

FALL GUYS.

Summer's only a few days old but the pro football clubs already are bombarding us with announcements of players being signed up, etc. . . . Susquehanna U. won't have just one football captain this year, but four. . . . Navy will get a year of football out of Fred Van't Hull, Minnesota tackle, who just got his Annapolis appointment. . . . Auburn has enough football players studying in its summer school to make up a full softball team. . . . Who called it soft, though? Coast scribes claim the conference coaches ought to kick back part of their salaries now, since the strictly amateur code lets them loaf all summer instead of scouting for talent.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Charles Johnson, Minneapolis Star Journal: "In many respects, Joe Louis is like the Minnesota football team. Northwestern, for example, might beat the Gophers on this Saturday, but next Saturday they couldn't beat Podunk college. The reason is that the Maroon and Gold boys took so much out of them that they couldn't move." (Ed's note: Take it from us it's a tremendous compliment to Joe when a Minnesotan compares him to the Gophers.)

HAW DEPT.

Our idea of the toughest job of the week is the one Doc Morris has trying to work up some popularity for Bummy Davis. . . . Doc's best line so far was when he quoted Trainer Ray Arcel as telling Davis "nobody ever accused you of using unfair tactics."

THEATERS

Starring Role.

Dennis Morgan's work in "Kitty Foyle" opposite Ginger Rogers was responsible for his starring role in "Affectionately Yours," showing at the Ohio with Merle Oberon and Rita Hayworth in leading roles. As a newspaper correspondent in Portugal, who learns that his ex-wife in New York is about to annex another husband, Morgan takes the first clipper home only to be pursued by a working associate, Rita Hayworth. Actual pictures of the clipper take-offs at Lisbon were filmed there and a reproduction of the quay was built at Catalina for "shooting" the cast in action. Ralph Bellamy, James Gleason and Hattie McDaniel are among the players.

Elaborate Wardrobe.

Marlene Dietrich's starring vehicle "The Flame of New Orleans," showing at the Madison gives the star opportunity to wear a lavish wardrobe ranging from the graceful costumes of a Louisiana gentlewoman to the spangles of a cafe entertainer. She wears the first wardrobe while trying to land a wealthy husband played by Roland Young and the second when impersonating a rowdy relative. Bruce Cabot plays the romantic lead as a rough river skipper who banishes the "Flame's" intentions of marrying for money. "The Bride Wore Crutches," is the companion feature.

Double Thrills.

"Rage in Heaven," co-starring Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman is the attraction at the Ritz. George Sanders. Lucile Watson and Oscar Homolka are in the cast. Cesar Romero plays another "Cisco Kid," role in "Ride On Vaquero," the second feature.

Rejuvenation Theme.

A pretty girl and $10,000 effect the rejuvenation of a wastrel youth in "Redhead," showing at the Park theater with Johnny Downs and June Lang in the leading roles. Frank Jaquet enacts the father who devises the ruse to change his son's ways and Eric Blore plays the helpful butler. Zarova, American exponent of Latin rhythms, features a torrid new melody in the picture. "Trail of the Silver Spurs," a western, is the second film.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(INS)—An Albuquerque couple recently became parents and grandparents within the period of a few hours. At noon, a daughter was born to Mrs. John Seymour. At 9 o'clock that night, Mrs. Seymour's mother, Mrs. E. H. Tyler, gave birth to another daughter at her home. Mrs. Tyler is 39, her daughter, Mrs. Seymour, is 20.

Huskies Take Hudson Race

Washington Crew Wins By Three Lengths.

By SID FEDER

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—(AP)—It probably comes as no surprise to you to learn that, for competitive thrills, the annual intercollegiate regatta packs about as much punch these days as target practice at the Empire State building with over-ripe tomatoes as ammunition.

With rowing as a major industry of the Far West, probably second only to making movies, it's getting so you know beforehand it'll be either Washington or California in a breeze. And when the Huskies of Washington rowed off and hid from the others along about dusk last evening, it was about as astonishing as finding a knife, fork and spoon at your place when you sit down to dinner.

It was such a soft touch, you wondered if Washington and California, who chased the Huskies home, had any other reason for coming than to train a lot of young fellows how to keep their waist lines down.

Of course, the big guys who win have the fun every year of dunking their little winning coxswain into the Hudson. Vic Fomo got it yesterday for "coxing" his third winning Husky crew. He did it two years ago with his freshman outfit, last year with the Jayvee boatload, and this year with a varsity that won by three lengths and looked like it could have come in by thirteen.

With California bouncing in with the junior varsity affair this year, the east's only consolation was Cornell's triumph in the freshman two miles. The Huskies and the Bears didn't bring freshman boatloads with them.

At the finish of the four mile "derby route" the Huskies were more excited about what was coming up for dinner than they were about the win. They rowed over to the sun-steaming judges' boat and only wanted to know what their time was. Just for the record, it was 18 minutes, 53.3 seconds.

Back of the two far western craft came, in order Cornell, Syracuse, Princeton, Wisconsin, Rutgers, Massachusetts Tech, and Columbia.

For the ho-hum department, the Washington win marked the eighth time in nine years the Pacific pullers have hit the Poughkeepsie jackpot.

Tonight the Braves go to Fremont for a single game, and return tomorrow night to meet Fostoria in a ladies' night battle at the Fairground. Women will be admitted for 10 cents.

RICHARD AMES AND JOE DIMAGGIO

Right-handed pitcher from Yale university, Richard Ames, left, is made to feel at home in Yankee stadium, New York, by Joe DiMaggio as the former worked out with the team. Ames has been signed by the Yanks for their Binghampton club. He won six for the Yales this year.

Pro Fight Show Being Planned

Mike Goetz, Cleveland fight promoter and manager, was in town last night, going over plans with Johnny Villella for the staging of a professional mitt show at the armory in the near future.

Goetz, recently returned from a trip to Chicago and Indianapolis, lined up a Chicago bout for Dick Honeyboy Jones with Tony Zale, middleweight champion, probably in six weeks, and reported that promoters in the Chicago area are interested in booking Mansfield's Paul Carbetta who was a hit in the mid-west Golden Gloves tourney this spring at Chicago.

Villella, who is managing Carbetta, agreed with Goetz that it would be better for Carbetta to get his professional start in his home town, where he already has one knockout victory to his credit.

* * *

Villella also announced plans for opening a gym, and possibly an athletic club.

Settle Four League Tilts

Batsmen Have Big Night In Commercial Frays.

Commercial league sluggers were on the warpath last night as four tilts were settled in inter-family battles. Tappan's blasted the Farm Tools club 26-5; N. and W. Coals walloped the Town Tavern crew 20-8; Athletic Supplies defeated Isalys 9-4, and Mansfield Tire took Humphryes into camp 6-3.

Patterson, Hoffman and McIntire led the Tappan attack, Patterson and Hoffman both connecting for homers. Whitman and E. Backen got two bingles apiece to spark the losing Farm Tools.

Each sending one out of the lot, Laughman and Parr led the Coal Heavers assault. Waibly and the Windsor boys got two out of four for the Tavern club.

Isaly's batsmen outhit the Supplies but were unable to push runs across and came out of the fray on the short end of the score. Prosser had a perfect evening for Isaly's with three out of three. Bush got two out of three for the Supplies.

* * *

Schmidt led the Tire assault with a perfect three for three. Simpson did the same trick for Humphryes. Both teams connected for ten bingles.

Cobb, Ruth Renew Rivalry

TY COBB

After many years of inactivity, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth, two of the greatest baseball players of all time, return to the sports whirl with a charity golf match in Boston and a second 18-hole match in New York two days later. Cobb and Ruth both are fair golfers.

Kansas City Takes Association Lead

The Kansas City Blues were back in first place in the American association race today—and the lowly Milwaukee Brewers had a lot to do with this latest change in the standings.

* * *

Milwaukee, making its second start under its new manager, Charley Grimm, knocked over the Minneapolis Millers. The defeat sent the Millers tumbling to second place as Kansas City took over the top spot by coming from behind and defeating St. Paul, 5-4, scoring three runs in the last of the ninth on three singles and Bill Hitchcock's triple.

Milwaukee beat Minneapolis, 7 to 5, sewing up the game by scoring twice in the seventh on singles by Lou Novikoff, Ted Gullic, Arnold Moser and Joe Just.

Louisville got back into winning ways, defeating Columbus, 6 to 1, behind steady pitching by Oscar Judd, who allowed the Red Birds eight hits. Toledo's Mud Hens pounded out 16 hits to defeat Indianapolis, 13 to 3.

Tri-State Tourney Narrows Down

CINCINNATI—The field in the tri-state tennis tournament narrows down today as eight men and eight women go into quarter-finals matches most of which were indicated by the seedings.

* * *

PAR ELUDES GOLFERS FROM WESTINGHOUSE

Old Man Par played hard to get for Westinghouse league golfers at Possum Run last evening. Kleshinski, Jesson and Zeides paced the loop with two-over-par 38's.

Cards of 39 were turned in by Backman, Allen, Mayer, Tipul, and Kushin. Pashulish won the blind bogey with a handicap total of 35.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Poughkeepsie pickups: the talk along rowing row all week has been that Washington's Al Ulbrickson's will get a bid from Yale to take Ed Leader's place. . . . The Eli alumni think something must be done about Harvard's string of victories and the Crimsons won't go to Poughkeepsie to let Ulbrickson do it with his Huskies. . . . Like Washington, George Pocock couldn't lose yesterday. He built all the boats in the race.

ONE MINUTE INTERVIEW.

Ty Cobb: "I like to watch baseball but I haven't seen a game yet this year. Maybe it's because the mistakes I see on the field drive me wild. Maybe it's because I hate the change that's come over the game. When the value of one run was destroyed, a big kick was taken out of the game for me."

FALL GUYS.

Summer's only a few days old but the pro football clubs already are bombarding us with announcements of players being signed up, etc. . . . Susquehanna U. won't have just one football captain this year, but four. . . . Navy will get a year of football out of Fred Van't Hull, Minnesota tackle, who just got his Annapolis appointment. . . . Auburn has enough football players studying in its summer school to make up a full softball team . . . Who called it soft, though? Coast scribes claim the conference coaches ought to kick back part of their salaries now, since the strictly amateur code lets them loaf all summer instead of scouting for talent.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Charles Johnson, Minneapolis Star Journal: "In many respects, Joe Louis is like the Minnesota football team. Northwestern, for example, might beat the Gophers on this Saturday, but next Saturday they couldn't beat Podunk college. The reason is that the Maroon and Gold boys took so much out of them that they couldn't move." (Ed's note: Take it from us it's a tremendous compliment to Joe when a Minnesotan compares him to the Gophers.)

HAW DEP'T.

Our idea of the toughest job of the week is the one Doc Morris has trying to work up some popularity for Bummy Davis. . . . Doc's best line so far was when he quoted Trainer Ray Arcel as telling Davis "nobody ever accused you of using unfair tactics."

Manager Clowson Draws Suspension

The suspension was the result of the argument last Friday night when Clowson was ejected from the game here with Findlay by Umpire Art Haag.

It leaves the already badly crippled Braves in sad need of a centerfielder since it was not known this morning whether the injured Bill Salem would be able to return to his regular pasture for tonight's game.

THEATERS

Starring Role.

Dennis Morgan's work in "Kitty Foyle" opposite Ginger Rogers was responsible for his starring role in "Affectionately Yours," showing at the Ohio with Merle Oberon and Rita Hayworth in leading roles. As a newspaper correspondent in Portugal, who learns that his ex-wife in New York is about to annex another husband, Morgan takes the first clipper home only to be pursued by a working associate, Rita Hayworth. Actual pictures of the clipper take-offs at Lisbon were filmed there and a reproduction of the quay was built at Catalina for "shooting" the cast in action. Ralph Bellamy, James Gleason and Hattie McDaniel are among the players.

Elaborate Wardrobe.

Marlene Dietrich's starring vehicle "The Flame of New Orleans," showing at the Madison gives the star opportunity to wear a lavish wardrobe ranging from the graceful costumes of a Lousiana gentlewoman to the spangles of a cafe entertainer. She wears the first wardrobe while trying to land a wealthy husband played by Roland Young and the second when impersonating a rowdy relative. Bruce Cabot plays the romantic lead as a rough river skipper who banishes the "Flame's" intentions of marrying for money. "The Bride Wore Crutches," is the companion feature.

Double Thrills.

"Rage in Heaven," co-starring Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman is the attraction at the Ritz. George Sanders, Lucile Watson and Oscar Homolka are in the cast. Cesar Romero plays another "Cisco Kid," role in "Ride On Vaquero," the second feature.

Rejuvenation Theme.

A pretty girl and $10,000 effect the rejuvenation of a wastrel youth in "Redhead," showing at the Park theater with Johnny Downs and June Lang in the leading roles. Frank Jaquet enacts the father who devises the ruse to change his son's ways and Eric Blore plays the helpful butler. Zarova, American exponent of Latin rhythms, features a torrid new melody in the picture. "Trail of the Silver Spurs," a western, is the second film.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(INS)— An Albuquerque couple recently became parents and grandparents within the period of a few hours. At noon, a daughter was born to Mrs. John Seymour. At 9 o'clock that night, Mrs. Seymour's mother, Mrs. E. H. Tyler, gave birth to another daughter at her home. Mrs. Tyler is 39, her daughter, Mrs. Seymour, is 20

STOCKS STRIVE TO REMAIN ON CLIMBING TRAIL

Dealings Sluggish But Some Fractional Gains Noted on War News.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks struggled with moderate success to keep on the advancing trail in today's market. Dealings were sluggish but small fractional plus signs were fairly well distributed near the second hour.

Buying spirits were revived somewhat, brokers said, by Russian claims of strong resistance to the Nazi invasion although most potential bidders inclined to await more definite information.

Boardrooms found a note of cheer in the address of the stock exchanges new president, Emil Schram, who defended speculation as necessary to the national economy and urged operation of the securities mart "not only as a business enterprise, but in the manner of a public utility as well."

Market analysts saw further confirmation of the rapid strides of industry in the Dun & Bradstreet summary of bank clearings for the week ended yesterday. The aggregate for 23 cities was placed at 28 per cent over the corresponding 1940 period, although under the high volume of the previous week.

Suffered With Kidney Weakness For Three Years; Bee Bee's Gave Relief

To active Kidneys, which caused swelling in her feet and limbs and made her stiff and sore. Feet would cramp and swell.

MRS. LESLIE CARROLL

"It is a real pleasure for me to say a good word for your wonderful Bee Bee's, because I've been troubled with my kidneys for three years and Bee Bee's is the only medicine that ever relieved me," says Mrs. Leslie Carroll, of R.F.D. No. 1, Piqua, Ohio.

"I was so very nervous that the least sound would disturb my rest. Before taking Bee Bee's my nights were all broken up by my nerves and kidneys. I would cramp and at times my feet would swell terribly and the muscles and joints in my legs and arms were so stiff and sore, life was really miserable for me. My back was so stiff and sore it would feel as if someone had stabbed me whenever I bent over.

"My sleep and rest was broken several times each night by too frequent kidney actions which caused me to get up several times in the night.

"I have never taken anything like Bee Bee's, now I can sleep at night and my pains and nervousness are forgotten and I feel rested. I fully recommend Bee Bee's as it gave me wonderful results."

JOBS OF TWO CITY WORKERS UP TO COUNCIL

Funds Needed To Continue Services of Parking Meter Collector, Inspector.

Continuation of the services of two city employes will depend upon council at its July meeting next Tuesday.

The appointments of Lloyd L. Kochenderfer, parking meter collector and inspector and Ray E. Hines, roof drainage inspector, will expire soon and must be extended if the men will continue their duties. Kochenderfer's appointment expires Monday and Hines' on July 8.

Mayor William J. Locke said that he had sent a letter to Fred Miller, chairman of council's finance committee, asking council to continue Hines' work.

The mayor pointed out that his work in eliminating more than 30 per cent of the storm water from the sanitary sewer system had reduced complaints of flooded basements by home-owners.

Council set up $160 to pay Kochenderfer's salary from April 8 until June 30. Under consideration is a police traffic division bill which would include a parking meter collector. The bill has not yet been reported out of committee.

The mayor, in his letter to Miller, also pointed out that Hines was now conducting sewer tap inspections which the health department returned to the service department recently after Fred Haag, city plumbing inspector, had refused to perform them.

FORECAST NATIONAL INCOME OF 85 BILLIONS FOR THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A total national income of at least $85,000,000,000 for 1941 was forecast today by agriculture department economists, or a minimum increase of $11,000,000,000 over last year.

Looking beyond 1941, the economists said it was probable that the 1942 income would reach $92,000,000,000 and that the rate of industrial production would be 40 per cent greater than in the boom year of 1929.

These estimates were contained in a special report on the effect of the war and the defense program on agriculture, and most of the economists' findings concerned the outlook for the farmer, which was considered very good.

Given a continuation of favorable weather for the rest of the crop-growing season and a continuation of the war, the farmer may expect 1941 to surpass 1929 in prosperity, the experts said. Their prediction was that 1941's cash farm income would be about $10,600,000,000—$1,500,000,000 better than 1940.

The economists said that a farm income of $10,600,000,000 would fall short of 1929's $11,221,000,000 in terms of dollars, but would surpass the latter in purchasing power. They expect the 1941 farm dollar to buy at least 15 per cent more non-farm goods and services than the 1929 dollar did.

The economists said there were several factors contributing to the improvement in the farm situation, including an expanding domestic demand for farm products as a result of re-employment under the defense program, new government measures supporting farm prices at higher levels and an increased demand by Great Britain for goods of high nutritive value.

The report stated that due largely to the influence of the lend-lease program, agricultural exports during the fiscal year beginning July 1 were likely to be about double the rate prevailing since last September.

PRODUCE FIRST PLANE CANNON

Akron Firm Completes Work on Aircraft Weapon For U. S. Army Monday.

(By Associated Press)

ARKON—The first two 40-MM automatic anti-aircraft cannon ever manufactured in this country will be turned over to the army Monday.

In less than three months after contracts were signed, the Firestone Tire and Rubber company will present the weapons to ordnance officials here, and civic leaders planned some form of ceremony to commemorate the event.

Firestone made the carriages for the guns, which were manufactured by the Chrysler corporation of Detroit. Mass production of the cannon will begin shortly in a $1,500,000 plant here on which structural steel work was completed last week.

The Bofors cannon, an adaptation of a Swedish gun used extensively by the British, will be produced first at the rate of five a day, this to be doubled later. It fires a 2.2 pound explosive projectile and will augment the standard 37-MM automatic anti-aircraft gun.

Besides Firestone and Chrysler, the Marion Steam Shovel company and the Truscon company of Ohio participated in the order as subcontractors.

Ohio Preparing For Last Noisy Fourth of July

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Another "boom" came to defense-busy Ohio today. Along the highways and the roadsides fireworks stands sprung up to give the state its last noisy Fourth of July.

For they won't be back, those ramshackle little booths where you must go generally to buy the usual noise-makers.

A law, effective Aug. 1, dooms the sale of firecrackers, roman candles and pyrotechnic displays in the state unless they are used under official supervision.

The measure normally would have become effective before July 4th, but some legislators fought for a "one more noisy Fourth" clause and won out over cries of opponents that it would be "one more chance to maim and slaughter our children." Gov. John W. Bricker signed the bill March 11.

Since most cities ban the sale of the goods within their limits, dealers have been forced to take to the roadsides in the county to do business. And they are there in number.

Vendol
Relief "Vendol" Gave Seems Like An Answer To Prayer
This Ohio man had awful pains in muscles of his arms, shoulders, back, and limbs due to need of mild dieuretic to kidneys. Tells all about it.
"When my kidneys act like they need a mild diuretic, it often seems as though my back will break," says Mr. William F. Bowman of Columbus, Ohio.
"At these times I feel like every muscle in my body is sore and aching, when I bend over it's an effort to straighten up and every move sends pains shooting through my muscles.
"I was advised to try Vendol and it was praised by many people around here for troubles like mine, so I got some, and the action of this fine medicine seemed almost like the answer to a prayer.
"Vendol acts as a mild diuretic to my kidneys and gives the temporary relief that I enjoy so much from the sore, stiff muscles, and makes me feel grand and wish I had known about it long ago, which would have saved days and nights of suffering and distress. I can't praise Vendol too much, and recommend it to everyone suffering from the same troubles."
Mr. William F. Bowman
Vendol is a tried and true medicine with a 17-year reputation for helping men and women.
